CITY CHURCHES OFFER ALL-DAY YULE SERVICES

Vespers and Children's Programs Will Be Featured Sunday Evening.

By NITA BRANSON

Today's Christmas worship in Mansfield churches opens with morning sermons and songs announcing the glad message of the nativity and continues throughout the day with vespers and children's programs.

At 4 p. m., both the United Presbyterian and the First Methodist will hold Christmas vesper musicales. At the former, a cantorio written by Richard Maxwell and William Wirges, will be presented by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Isabelle Conant with Mrs. W. W. Webb presiding at the organ, and Henry Senert acting as narrator.

The cantorio numbers will include: "Come to the Adoration" sung by Senert, Elizabeth Conant and chorus; "The Shepherd's Song" by Mrs. Kenneth Greer; "The Annunciation," and solo, "Holy Mary" by Miss Doris Ranck; "The Journey to Bethlehem," by Senert and Mrs. Webb; "The Birthday Jesus," solo by David Jackson; "The Holy Night," ladies trio and full chorus; "Mary's Lullaby," Jean Finney; "The Story of the Wise Men, the Star and Journey by Camel to Jerusalem," men's chorus.

Mrs. Webb will open the program with Schubert's "Ave Maria" and will play as a processional, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." She will use "Joy to the World" by Lowell Mason as the recessional.

AT THE FIRST METHODIST church, Christmas carols and music will be presented by the sanctuary and the junior choirs under the direction of Mrs. R. L. Davison and the Treble Choir, under the direction of Mrs. George Hall. Solos will be sung by W. L. Naas, Marilyn Green, Dr. Ralph Wadsworth and Dorothy June. A special number will be played by Mrs. E. D. Gibson, violin; Mrs. Davison, piano, and Mrs. Naas, organ.

The First Christian church will have its annual children's program at 4:30 p. m.

There will be two 5 p. m. services in the city, one at the Central Methodist church and the other at the Emanuel church, 331 Wayne street. The Methodist program will be by the children's departments of the Sunday school in the assembly rooms followed by an hour of fellowship and refreshments.

* * *

IN ADDITION, AT 7:30 P. M. at the Central Methodist, a pageant with a cast of 65 church members will be presented. This pageant, "The Holy Night," was written and arranged by the pastor, Rev. J. Frank Stewart. It will be under the direction of Miss Virginia Jenkins.

The 5 p. m. program at the Emanuel church will include the presentation of the play, "A Gift for the Christ Child" with a cast of 25, to be given in three acts. There will also be recitations, drills and other Christmas features.

4 ESCAPE DEATH IN AUTO CRASH

Snow-covered railroad tracks at Lekington yesterday almost made it a tragic Christmas for four holiday-bound Miami university students.

Their car skidded, smashed into a cement bridge abutment and then nearly plunged over a 25 foot embankment. It came to a stop hanging two-thirds of the way over the embankment, sheriff's deputies said.

Th· four youths, from Cleveland and Garfield Heights, were treated at General hospital for bruises, and continued home by bus.

Deputies said the car virtually was demolished when it crashed into the abutment. It careened off the abutment and nosed out over the embankment.

The accident occurred late yesterday afternoon. Driver of the car, Edward Kofylinski, 24, of Cleveland, told deputies he was trying to pass a truck when the car skidded.

Passengers were Ted S. Zymanski, 24, and Clarence Sowinski, 19, both of Cleveland, and Stanley Owizark, 23, of Garfield Heights.

N-J Fetes Gridders January 13

Most pretentious post-season gridiron affair in the history of Mansfield scholastic sports is in the offing.

It's the 11th annual News-Journal high school football banquet which promises to be bigger and better than ever this year. The fete is scheduled for the Coliseum at North Lake park on Monday evening, Jan. 13.

For the first time in history the banquet will pay tribute to both Mansfield high schools — Senior high and Madison.

Site of the N-J banquet was shifted to the Coliseum to make it possible for a larger group of followers of each team to attend. There will be accommodations for at least 800 persons, including varsity and reserve football teams from the two high schools.

* * *

TICKETS FOR THE GIANT ceremony will go on sale Thursday of this week at places to be designated later.

One of the top football figures in the country will be the featured speaker. But the whole purpose of the banquet is to honor the Mansfield pigskin squads.

Mansfield Senior high compiled one of its best records last fall in winning seven games, losing one and tying two. The Tygers were rated as the 10th best scholastic team in Ohio and possessed one of the Buckeye state's better defensive lines.

* * *

FIVE MEMBERS OF THE Tyger squad were honored on various Ohio "honor" teams. Guard Bob Rondy, who was elected captain of the 1946 Mansfield team, was a top choice for a second team position. Kenny Horvath, fullback, made one third team backfield.

Dave Boals, tackle; Ralph Majors and Ollie Cline, backs, all received honorable mention.

Madison took second in the Northeastern Buckeye league for the second straight year and won seven of nine games during the season. Ed Thomas, end; Jack Cleckner, tackle, and Dick Ernsberger, back, made the all-league team.

Snow Gives City Holiday Atmosphere

Thousands of Mansfielders who didn't mind wading through slush yesterday if it meant a white Christmas thronged stores and Christmas tree stands to put the finishing touches on their holiday shopping.

The snow which sifted down most of the day gave the city a real holiday atmosphere and the shoppers, laden with bundles, seemed to enjoy it. They just donned high-top overshoes and waded through the muddy slush in the downtown area.

In the residential districts, the snow packed hard enough on the streets to make good sledding and boys and girls coasted on a number of less-traveled thoroughfares.

The snow and slippery streets slowed the heavy downtown traffic, but police at the busy intersections helped to keep cars moving. Countless cars stalled at curbs and the drivers had to summon help or get out their chains to get started again.

The weatherman wasn't sure last night about the white Christmas prospects. Unless it rains, some of the snow is pretty certain to stay on until Wednesday, but the forecast said warmer weather is in prospect for this afternoon and tomorrow.

ETHRIDGE GETS U. N. ASSIGNMENT

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State Byrnes last night named Mark Ethridge, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal, as American representative on the United Nations commission to investigate alleged Greek border violations.

Last fall Ethridge investigated political conditions in Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Romania for Byrnes. His report has not been made public.

The security council decided Thursday to send a commission to investigate disturbances along the border between Greece and Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

ORDERED TO LIMA

ATHENS —(AP)—Jewell Peters, 25-year-old Ohio university student charged with second degree murder in the trailer death of his wife, Leah Mae, will be taken to Lima State hospital for the criminal insane today for a 30-day observation period, Sheriff George Bateman announced yesterday.

'Eats' Rival Santa at Elks' Children's Party

By AL PREYER

Santa Claus ran into some competition yesterday. Sixty youngsters from Richland County Children's home, guests at the Elks Christmas party, had difficulty deciding whether "the eats" or Santa provided their greatest thrill.

"The eats" consisted of just about everything an American boy or girl puts first on his or her menu: hamburgers, hot-dogs, potato chips, ice cream, cake, chocolate milk—AND—all the mustard and catsup they could desire. Added to this was a large sack of assorted hard candies to be taken home to make up what was described as "the perfect kiddies menu."

Santa appeared early and gave each of the children a brand new $1 bill. Then, for 45 minutes, the children sat wide eyed as Ashland magician R. M. Boffenmeyer showed them a lot of "hokus-pokus." "Aw, it's all fake," one boy was heard to remark. But neither he nor any of his pals explained how Boffenmeyer did it.

Puzzled faces, result of the magic show, gave way to mustard-smeared faces as the kiddies wound up the festivities by partaking of that "all American" repast, served at tables gaily decorated in the Christmas spirit.

"Boy, oh boy, Santa sure missed one swell spread," a little fellow gurgled from a mouth stuffed full of delicious cake.

Here's a Tip To Make Yule Lights Last

Comes from Joe Callender, veteran engineer for Westinghouse Electric corporation, a tip to make Christmas tree lights burn longer in these days when finding replacements is difficult.

Says Callender of 48 Adams street:

"Due to the shortage of Christmas tree lights this year, many more trees may remain lighted if a competent electrician be allowed to make one 16-lamp cord out of two 8-lamp cords or two 12-lamp cords out of three 8-lamp cords.

"Sufficient light will be maintained and the bulbs will give extra long life."

He explains that the suggestion applied only to the series type of Christmas tree lights.

UNIONS SEEK 455 MILLIONS FROM INDUSTRY

Portal-to-Portal Pay Claims May Reach Six Billions, Industry Predicts.

(By Associated Press)

With suits seeking more than $455,712,574 already on file, several CIO unions and at least one AFL union yesterday disclosed plans for a widespread legal fight to press retroactive portal to portal pay claims which some industry leaders estimated might run between five and six billion dollars.

The suits, filed in several cities, followed a recent U. S. Supreme court decision in the Mt. Clemens (Mich.) Pottery Company case that a statutory work week includes "all time during which an employe is necessarily required to be on the employers' premises."

Suits filed so far involve principally CIO steel and automobile workers.

Richard T. Leonard, vice president of the CIO United Auto Workers union and the Union's National Ford Director, predicted suits would be filed asking $1,000,000,000 from Detroit area employers alone, including claims of $270,000,000 against Ford. UAW attorneys said a suit would be filed in Detroit federal court "by Monday" seeking $60,000,000 from the Briggs Manufacturing company.

STALIN TALKS TO FDR'S SON

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Stalin received Elliott Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt yesterday on the Generalissimo's 67th birthday, the Moscow radio reported last night.

Moscow dispatches earlier yesterday reported Roosevelt's return to Moscow, and the broadcast therefore indicated that Stalin himself had returned to the capital after his vacation.

Roosevelt had been in Russia and Poland for several weeks, gathering material for magazine articles. He told Moscow reporters earlier Saturday that he and his wife, who is the former Faye Emerson of the films, planned to leave the Russian capital today if weather permitted. They hoped to reach Hyde Park, N. Y., in time for Christmas with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

The Moscow radio made no mention of Stalin on his birthday until the broadcast shortly after 8 p. m. (3 p. m., EST) announcing his meeting with the Roosevelts. Last year Stalin returned to Moscow four days before his birthday, after a similar vacation.

Despite many rumors in the Turkish press and elsewhere, Moscow informants have declared in the last few weeks that Stalin was in good health. His second in command, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, returned to Moscow Saturday after attending the United Nations and Foreign Ministers' council meetings in New York.

PREPARES CHARGE

DIXON, Ill.—(AP)—State's Attorney Morey Pires said last night he would file "in a few days" a charge of kidnaping for ransom against Frank L. Sickles, 27, in the bizarre five-hour abduction of attractive Mrs. Della Stackhouse. Pires identified Sickles as a dishonorably discharged soldier and said he had signed a statement admitting the abduction of Mrs. Stackhouse, 40, wife of a Dixon physician, Friday in a robbery attempt at the Stackhouse home.

DEATHS MOUNT IN AREA SWEPT BY TIDAL WAVES

Area Larger Than Ohio Hit By Disaster; Nearly 600 Now Reported Dead.

(From AP Reports)

TOKYO, Sunday — The death toll was rising hourly today as relief teams rushed into sections of Japan which had been isolated by one of the most violent earthquakes in history. Unofficial counts placed the dead near 600.

The quake, followed by at least six tremendous tidal waves, left death and ruin over 60,000 square miles—an area half again as large as Ohio.

* * *

Covers Wide Area.

With some of the hardest-hit areas still isolated, death or damage were reported from points within 80 miles of Tokyo to the western shores of Honshu and as far south as Kyushu, southernmost home island.

Kyodo news agency put the toll at 592 dead, 403 injured seriously and 14,592 houses and buildings destroyed as the earth's upheaval yesterday rocked and flooded scores of cities and towns.

New reports spread the picture of devastation far beyond the original scene, with deaths reported in Gifu prefecture, 130 miles west of Tokyo, and to the north of Gifu in Ishikawa prefecture, on Honshu's western coast.

Others occurred more than 450 miles southwest of Tokyo in the seaside prefecture of Oita, which is on Kyushu at the west end of the inland sea.

No American personnel of any sort, military or civilian, were among the casualties reported. One British soldier was reported missing.

Striking in the predawn darkness of 4:20 a. m. (2:20 p. m. Friday, EST) the gigantic earth tremor brought on six seismic-born ocean waves which rolled over the coast at heights estimated up to 10 feet, washing away fishing villages, flooding countless homes far inland and drowning many Japanese who had escaped the quake itself.

Again and again the huge waves rolled in, then ebbed with awful destruction at intervals of about a half-hour. Lesser tremors accompanied them. At some points quake-set fires added to the horror.

Officials of the Japanese Central Meteorological Observatory said the disaster was the most severe ever known to have shaken Japan.

* * *

Like 'Living Hell.'

A dispatch to the newspaper Asahi yesterday described once-prosperous Kainan in Wakayama prefecture as "a living hell," standing in four feet of water and littered with 'quake-splintered houses and streetcars.

"It was like a living hell on earth," the dispatch quoted an old man, spattered with mud, who sloshed aimlessly through the water as though looking for something.

YOUNG HUNTER KILLED

MASSILLON — (AP)— Frank Yonker, 15-year-old school boy, was killed instantly yesterday by the accidental discharge of a shotgun during a hunting and mark-shooting trip with two other youths in woods near Massillon, police reported.

Japs Consider Allied Aid Appeal

TOKYO, Sunday — (AP) — Japanese began talking today of appealing for Allied assistance for the mounting list of earthquake victims—just as they did after the great 1923 tragedy in Yokahama and Tokyo.

The newspaper Mainichi, carrying Tokyo's only editorial today on the quake, said there was a prevalent belief Allied assistance might be necessary to tide over the nation in this new disaster—which it termed "a test Providence has given the Japanese people."

SIX IN RUNNING FOR 'REC' POST

Floyd Dent, chairman of the city's recreation council, announced yesterday that the field of possible candidates for the job of director of recreation had been narrowed to six men.

Interviews with the candidates, leading to the selection of one for the position, will be held during the hollidays, he said. The final appointment will be made by a committee of Harold W. Arlin, W. C. Mead and Paul R. Tappan.

"We are trying definitely to have a director on the job by April 1," Dent said. He did not disclose the names of the six candidates.

The recreation program, made available by the passage of the two-tenths mill levy last fall, is expected to be in full swing by summer. The levy will draw approximately $12,000 from the tax duplicate for a year-round recreation program for the city.

Dent said the director will be appointed in time to give him 60 days to take care of personal affairs before coming to the city.

Requirements for the position, as set up by the council, are: experience in recreation work in a city comparable to Mansfield; minimum age limit of 30 years, and preferred college training toward the position.

City's Food Prices Hold At Thanksgiving Level

If it's turkey or chicken you're having this Christmas, it'll cost you the same as that Thanksgiving spread. But if you're switching to steak you'll probably come out four or five cents ahead on the pound.

Comparative prices on food advertised in the News-Journal the week before Thanksgiving and before Christmas show a slight downward trend on beef. Turkeys are still 70 cents a pound and chicken per pound averages from 60 to 65 cents for the dressed birds.

Head lettuce was the only meal "accessory" which dropped even slightly. Potato eaters will pay four cents per peck more for spuds, and most other commodities will have the same price tag as before Thanksgiving.

* * *

Canned Goods Unchanged.

In the canned food line, little if any change has been noted in the prices. Mince meat is holding at from 47 to 55 cents a pound, soup prices are stable and canned apple sauce is priced as it was a month ago.

Variations in prices on beef last week, compared with November's prices, include:

Swiss steak, down six cents, to 59 cents per pound.

Veal roast, down two cents to 35 cents per pound.

Rib roast (beef) same price at 55 cents per pound.

Sausage, down five cents to 52 cents per pound.

Skinless wieners, down four cents to 38 cents per pound.

Sole fillets, same price at 45 cents per pound.

Florida oranges are still eight pounds for 49 cents at grocery stores; tomatoes are up two cents on two-pound weight to 45 cents. Pascal celery still runs two stalks for 25 cents and grapefruit is stable at 10 pounds for 49 cents.

'TOO UPSET TO WORRY'

NEW YORK —(AP)— Helen Keller, back by plane today from a trip to Europe, said she was too upset by the state of blind war victims abroad to worry about the home that burned down while she was away. The deaf-blind leader termed conditions of the blind in Europe "terrible", particularly in France, Italy and Greece, and added that they "need practically everything."

MORE HOUSING UNITS TO OPEN

First 26 apartments of a 50-apartment veterans' housing project in Mansfield are expected to be ready for use by February, Edward R. Friday, secretary of the Mansfield Housing authority, said last night.

He said 12 apartments at a South Diamond street site are already under roof. Labor is being concentrated at that site so 26 apartments there can be completed first, he said.

The 26 units will be opened for occupancy at the same time, Friday said.

When workmen finish at the South Diamond project they'll be shifted to a 24-apartment site on Grace street. Work there is expected to be finished the latter part of March, Friday said.

The housing authority secretary said although a labor shortage has slowed progress, crews have been working steadily on the South Diamond project.

Equipment for the home units, including ranges, water and space heaters, and ice boxes, have been ordered, he said.

Meanwhile, a 74-apartment project at Mifflin for veterans still is under construction although many of the units have been occupied.

2 MUST DIE FOR PRISON UPRISING

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— Two Alcatraz prison inmates yesterday were sentenced to death for their part in the bloody island prison uprising of last May. Those to die are Miran E. Thompson, 29, Texas kidnaper and slayer, and Sam Shockley, 36, kidnaper and bank robber from Oklahoma.

A third convict, Clarence Carnes, 19, Oklahoma kidnaper-slayer, now serving 99 years, will receive another life sentence, on the jury's recommendation.

All were charged with conspiracy in the slaying of Guard William A. Miller in an attempted break at the Federal Maximum Security prison.

Three convicts and two guards were killed during the riot.

Warfare Rages In Indo-China

PARIS—(AP)—Full scale guerrilla warfare raged yesterday in major cities and towns of northern Indo-China as French troops battled the Viet-Namese in bloody street fighting that reached its greatest intensity in the flaming native quarter of Hanoi.

The once quiet tree-shaded avenues of Hanoi, capital of the Annamite republic of Viet Nam, were cut by barricades and trenches. Many houses in the Viet-Namese section were burning. Rifle firing and the clatter of patrolling French armor and planes were continuous.

Mansfielders Find Shortages Plaguing England More Than Year After War's End

Many of the ravages of World War II, such as shortages of food and housing, remain in England today but the people take them calmly, seldom speaking of them, Robert Black, Mansfielder just returned from Scotland, said Saturday.

Black, who journeyed to Scotland to visit his mother, four sisters and two brothers, said that "our first meal in London was a frugal affair in the extreme sense of the word."

"It gave us a deep understanding and sympathy for what England has been going through. Imagine being rationed 100 pounds of coal each week or one egg a week. Fresh fruits are practically unobtainable.

* * *

"DESPITE THE SHORTAGES there does not seem to be much of a black market," Black stated.

Black, who lives at 682 Arlington road, said that one of the most impressive sights he witnessed was the hundreds of names and initials of American servicemen carved on the rail of the Queen Elizabeth, luxury liner recently reconverted from a wartime troop carrier.

"I believe they plan to leave the carvings there as a symbol of the ship's war service," Black said.

BLACK'S GREATEST THRILL of the entire journey was the sight of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor.

"Although I've seen it six other times, it is always the biggest thrill of a trip," he said.

Accompanying Black as his guest on the month-long trip was Charles Hoffman of the Charles Hoffman Plumbing and Heating company of Mansfield.

State Fire Marshal Seeks Revision of Building Code

SAYS CHANGES NECESSARY TO PREVENT FIRES

Callan States Present Rules Inadequate to Meet Modern Needs.

By KEN DAVIS

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Adequate fire prevention in Ohio should be based on a completely rewritten building code in the opinion of State Fire Marshal Harry J. Callan.

That overworked official knows only too well that the terrifying Atlanta Hotel fire which took 120 lives could happen in crowded Ohio.

Fire fighters throughout the state are operating under a code written in 1913, in the days of high-buttoned shoes and mustache cups. The state's sons and daughters have fought two world wars since the legislature drafted its provisions.

And, those provisions now actually hamper efforts to give the public the utmost safety from fire in its modern assembly buildings, by denying access to approved lists of many new materials.

"The present building code may have been all right when it was written," declared Callan. "It certainly isn't now."

Disastrous fires always arouse public consciousness, for the public is handy at latching the stable door.

That's why he endorsed with enthusiasm proposals made in Cleveland by two firemen who visited the Atlanta fire scene. These men proposed preventive measures which Cleveland Mayor Thomas A. Burke said would be presented to the city council for adoption.

They included mandatory installation of automatic sprinklers and fire escapes. They also would prohibit use of oil paint in hotel corridors, more than one layer of wallpaper, all inflammable curtains and drapes and transoms, require legislation holding hotel guests liable for any fire loss caused by bed smoking, compel fire-fighting training for employes and enough night watchmen to patrol all floors, would place alarm boxes in front of each hotel and require managements to notify the fire department before warning guests in event of a fire.

"All of those recommendations are fine," Callan said.

He particularly backed the automatic sprinkler installations, but said the scheme could be carried farther than proposed in Cleveland. The state fire marshal would have the automatic sprinkler systems connected with automatic alarm devices.

"The more you have to depend upon the human element in a crisis," he said, "the more your chances of errors."

In addition to the fire alarm boxes placed in front of hotels, he would have another one placed in the manager's office.

Callan explained, however, that the basis of all prevention would be in a rewritten building code.

Only 25 new materials have been admitted to the list considered sound by the state building code since 1921, said Charles Pettibone, chief inspector of the factories and buildings in the department of industrial relations.

Both Callan and Pettibone endorsed rewriting the state building code from its current "specifications" basis to one founded on strength ratings.

"In that way," said Pettibone, "new materials which are incombustible and which have necessary strengths may be admitted to the approved list readily."

Building codes easily become outdated, Pettibone said, pointing out that the Chicago city code which took 10 years to write was outmoded before it became effective.

Revision of the Ohio building code may be proposed at the coming legislative session and reorganization of the state fire marshal's office is certain to be discussed.

For nearly a year now, a state fire marshals planning committee, headed by Donald McVey of Leroy has been working on that subject.

Meantime, Ohio continues to operate with an old lace building code—and only 28 assistants to the state fire marshal to help hard-pressed local fire departments.

THE FIRST LUSTRON HOME—An all-steel and porcelain-enameled building—to be turned out in mass production, is shown above in its unveiling before housing officials in Chicago's suburban Hinsdale. Elmer Thiedel, former Seabee, and his bride-to-be, Jeanette McCollum, investigate the metal home, on the exterior, top, and interior, bottom. The house sells for $7,000 minus a lot. The Lustron Homes corporation is currently engaged in a controversy with the government over a lease on the huge war-time Chicago-Dodge plant in which the company intended to manufacture the homes.

MANY FACTORS CAN CAUSE ROOF LEAKS

There is nothing more annoying or destructive than a leaking roof.

Sometimes when you ask your roofing contractor to make good the leak and repair the damage, he blames the flashing on the sheet metal man, or some other cause than the roofing work itself, and either refuses to do the work without charge, or does so with reluctance.

It is always advisable for the home builder to put a clause in his roofing contract that the roofer shall include the roof flashing or metal work, so that the responsibility shall be undivided and he will be the person obviously to blame if leaks develop.

The roofing contractor doubtless will have every honest intention of doing a good job and he is willing to give a guarantee against leakage, but it takes only a little carelessness on the part of a workman to leave open the possibility of a leak.

About two-thirds of the residents of the United States live east of the Mississippi river.

DISCUSS 'WARM WALL HEATING'

Among the new developments in heating experts are discussing today is "warm wall heating." The basic equipment for warm wall heating is similar to that for any modern forced-circulation hot water heating system. It consists of a boiler in a basement or utility room and a pump or circulator for mechanically forcing the water.

In addition—and this is the distinctive feature—there is a heat exchanger. The pump forces the hot water from the boiler to the heat exchanger. Here the heat from the water is transferred to air. The air then is permitted to circulate between the studding of the outside walls of the house, thus warming the inner surfaces of the outside walls.

The outer surfaces of the outside walls are well insulated to prevent heat loss to the outside.

The fact that the inside surfaces of the outside walls are warm is said to produce a high degree of comfort. Because the heat is distributed over a large area, that is, the entire outside wall of every room, uniform heating and freedom from drafts is produced. Another advantage is the quick responsiveness of the system to the demands of the thermostat and changes in outdoor temperatures.

While further research and testing are still necessary before warm wall heating can be offered for general use, sufficient progress has been made to indicate that the system offers many interesting possibilities.

Automatic Heating Devices Can Be Built Into Any Home

Automatic heat for the house of today may be one of several types . . . Automatic heat means just what it says . . . It is automatic in operation and requires the least amount of time by the home owner to operate successfully.

Automatic heat may be installed in any type of heating plant. That is, a furnace which provides hot air to the various rooms, a steam heating, or a hot water heating plant all may have stoker fed devices, or may be oil or gas fired complete with automatic devices.

Stokers may be bin fed, whereby the coal is fed directly into the fire pot from a bin which holds the coal, or may be a hopper type of stoker which also feeds the coal into the firepot but which requires that the stoker be filled by hand. Stokers burn a cheaper quality of coal and offer an even heat and little trouble for the home owner. They usually will maintain a fire in the heat-plant over several days' period except in the most extreme weather. The bin fed type is capable of maintaining heat for a much longer period.

Oil and gas units are now built directly into the heating unit and make a complete and efficient unit. They too have all the required automatic devices to make them really automatic, but if there is an old unit in the house, a conversion burner of either oil or gas may be installed.

All three types, stoker, oil and gas have automatic devices that control the amount of fuel used in the heating plant as required by the temperature needed in the house. Thermostats probably located on the first floor of the house control these heating devices which are electrically operated and give the home owner great comfort and more leisure.

There are many types of safety automatic devices for heating plants of today that make the plants more efficient and easier to operate. Your heating contractor should be able to explain these devices to you and it will be well to get the simplest types and not the cheapest equipment.

REMODELING SOLVES HOUSING PROBLEMS

One of the quickest ways to increase the available housing for veterans is by the remodeling and reconversion of existing buildings.

An old spacious residence can, in most instances, be converted into small apartments much faster than a new home can be built.

Nearly every city has many dwellings which could be remodeled at a profit to the owner. A typical example is an eight-or-ten-room structurally sound old house, considered by its owner to be too large for its present purpose.

MANSFIELDERS GET $670,960 IN 11 MONTHS

Jobless and Servicemen's Payments Are Listed.

Jobless benefit payments to civilians and readjustment allowances to servicemen of Mansfield during the first 11 months of 1946 totaled $670,960, the Associated Press reported from Columbus last night.

Those figures were contained in a report by Charles H. Jones, administrator of the state bureau of unemployment compensation, which showed that the jobless trust fund increased $948,000 during the war despite payment of $50,900,300 to out-of-work employes.

Totals of unemployment benefit and readjustment allowance funds for other cities included $73,761 for Bucyrus and $310,363 for Mt. Vernon.

Record Fund.

Ohio now has a record-breaking fund of $489,193,000 from which to pay benefits to persons who lose their jobs, Jones reported.

The amount is sufficient to pay the maximum of $21 for 22 weeks to more than half of the state's 2,050,000 employes covered by the unemployment compensation law. The benefits for total unemployment averaged $18.15 a week during the past year.

Unless a period of widespread unemployment develops, the size of the fund should increase sharply from now on as contributions continue to pour in from employers and the fund earns more interest.

21,111 Weekly Average.

The average weekly number of persons receiving benefits totalled 21,111 during November, a decrease of 78 per cent from the record high of 96,558 last January. The payments in November aggregated $1,498,200.

The state has paid out approximately $150,000,000 in unemployment benefits since the system started payments in 1939.

As the state was paying $50,-900,300 to jobless civilians during the year, the federal government was paying $55,156,770 in readjustment allowances to war veterans.

The average weekly number of ex-service men receiving these allowances under the GI bill during November was down to 31,600, a drop of 60 per cent from April's top of 78,042.

Combined payments of unemployment benefits and readjustment allowances during the first 11 months of 1946 in other cities included:

Akron $4,746,789; Canton $4,-620,317; Cincinnati $12,979,871; Columbus $5,977,341; Dayton $2,-149,678; Toledo $6,741,832; and Youngstown $5,400,195.

Banker Works 31 Years To Repay Losses

CHICAGO—(AP)—Frank Roti, a former bank president, today faced Christmas with a light heart after a 31-year struggle to pay $18,000 in bank losses to depositors—although he was under no legal obligation to do so.

Roti, who has been a lay member in Sacred Heart seminary at suburban Melrose Park for the past eight years, was head of the Western Savings bank in Chicago when four gunmen robbed the bank of $2,200 of Feb 7, 1915.

Although the loss was covered by insurance, business fell off drastically and the bank was forced to close about three weeks later. Liquidation brought depositors about 35 cents on the dollar A subsequent bankruptcy action relieved Roti of further liability

Yesterday, Roti recalled "I had little to do after the failure, and I went to a quarry where I saw some of my customers swinging heavy hammers — earning their livings by hard physical toil I knew then I must repay their losses."

Roti in 1925 began paying depositors from earnings of his small retail meat business

Today, approximately 200 customers have been repaid $14,000 and the balance of $4 000 is on hand for another 50 whom Roti now 65, is tracing through baptismal, marriage school and other records.

Sees Fertilizer Shortage In '47

COLUMBUS—(AP)—There probably won't be as much commercial fertilizer as most Ohio farmers would like to use for next year's plantings, an Ohio State university farm expert predicted yesterday

Earl Jones agronomy specialist, said that farmers attempting to be forehanded by ordering early might be disappointed because of a shortage of ingredients mainly nitrate of soda and ammonium sulphate as nitrogen carriers and sulphuric acid for phosphates.

Declaring that demand exceeded even an increased rate of production, Jones urged farmers to take whatever fertilizer came closest to their needs and to accept delivery when offered

Ingrid Bergman Has 'Time of Her Life' Doing Christmas Shopping

By GILBERT SWAN
(Central Press Correspondent)

NEW YORK — At a moment when the Manhattan ticket scalpers were reporting that Ingrid Bergman in "Joan of Lorraine" had become one of the big hits in Broadway history, the first lady of both film and stage box-offices was having the time of her life in an off-stage role which she had approached with misgiving.

She was mingling with the huge Christmas shopping throngs in the department stores in the exciting real-life character of a wife and mother—buying presents for her daughter, Pia, and for her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, now an eminent practitioner of neurosurgery, who came racing over from studies in Stockholm for the opening of her play

Recalling the relentless autograph hunters had stripped ermine coats from visiting Hollywood stars and had all but torn her limb from limb on the night of her premiere, Miss Bergman was hesitant about venturing among the Yuletide mob.

Let us report, then, that Ingrid has by now become a familiar figure in the Manhattan scene. She has even dared join friends of the writing craft and the screen in popular cafes. Her lack of makup continues to plague the managers of the cosmetic mart!

Her willingness to take direction has completely floored young Sam Wanamaker, who was tossed into his first important directing job when "Joan" was taking to the road for try-outs. Broadway, in general, can recall few instances in which a star achieved such unique eminence and yet remained so persistently herself.

Miss Bergman rarely goes about alone She has two able escorts On one arm you are likely to see Mrs Ruth Roberts, the one-time Detroit school teacher, who was drafted from the high school classrooms to help Hollywood's "foreign legion' stars overcome their accents Miss Bergman is one of her best pupils and a good friend.

At the right is Joseph Steele, Miss Bergman's personal manager, who doubles in the role of protector Keeping curious and bothersome pests away is old stuff to him. Next to autograph chasers, candid cameraphobiacs are the greatest nuisance Steele, in reciting some of his adventures, says he has prefected a system of quickly slipping a hand over all the stray lenses that bob up without hurting either camera or photographer.

"We're not unwilling to give autographs," Steele says. "It's being mobbed that riles us We ask people to mail requests with return envelopes—and you should see the piles of mail! We're not against having candid shots made. The point is, it can be dangerous."

However it appears, New York crowds are unpredictable.

"We went to see an art show the other day," Steele adds "After three hours of shopping, although stores appeared to recognize Miss Bergman only one asked for an autograph

Mistaken for Painter.

"At the gallery, the attendant didn't recognize Miss Bergman—asked her if she was an artist Miss Bergman said: No, I'm not, In one of the big stores, the next day we suddenly noticed that a crowd 10 feet deep had stopped shopping and had begun to trail us.

"Finally a woman came up to me and asked 'Are you the doctor?' meaning Dr Lindstrom I said I was And that was all that happened I'm always being asked if I'm the doctor!'

Miss Bergman is amazingly prompt with appointments When Steele makes one, she is usually ready before he is—and her ability to change attire is worthy of a quick-change artist. After 18 hours of rehearsal and study, she recently changed to evening clothes in 15 minutes.

"She said she'd been waiting for me for five minutes. I don't know how she does it," concludes Steele. "She has a terrific capacity for concentration and remaining calm."

Miss Bergman also amazes Maxwell Anderson, who wrote "Joan of Lorraine" He had it ready for production some time ago and was wondering who he could get to play the lead. His wife suggested Ingrid Bergman.

"She's too busy with pictures. She'd never take time out for a play," argued Anderson.

"Why don't you ask her?" asked Mrs. Anderson.

Anderson flew from New York to Hollywood and called Miss Bergman on the phone. He said he wanted to have lunch and talk about a play.

"What is it about?" asked la Bergman.

"About Joan of Arc," said Anderson.

"I'll be right over," she said excitedly. And upon arriving, announced: "Of course, I'll do it as soon as I can. I've always wanted to do Joan. I came to America believing I was to make a movie of her. The picture we were to make was called off by the war. The producer thought it would be untimely."

Miss Bergman already was fairly familiar with many of the scenes, having tried them out on GI audiences while making the camp show rounds.

When Ingrid arrived in New York for the opening, several scenes in her next picture, "Arch of Triumph," remained to be taken. Half a dozen stars, cameramen and directors were shipped from Hollywood The retaking of two scenes is said to have cost almost $100,000 Members of the cast stayed over in New York and took the first two rows at the opening of "Joan."

That this play could turn into the biggest box-office in history may surprise even Miss Bergman—but she doesn't show it.

STAMPS
In The News

SOME of the most colorful of the post-war stamps to come out of Europe are those of Romania, whose recent issues publicize a wide range of subjects.

One of the latest series of stamps to come from the Balkan nation consists of five bi-colored semi-postals using such subjects as agriculture, sports, science and industry to symbolize its post-war renaissance. Although only single stamps have been noted thus far in stamp markets, the set in souvenir form, with inscriptions that describe the symbolism of each stamp, is in the possession of the Romanian Legation in Washington and apparently was issued in part in that form.

Each of the stamps has a colored border with a design in another color set in the center of a white background. A 10-plus-100-lei has a brown border with a farmer sowing wheat in the orange central design. The inscription on the souvenir sheet reads "Gold of the Crop; Bread of the People."

Three trackmen leaping over hurdles are pictured on a 10-plus-200-lei green and brown value which bears a souvenir sheet inscription "Through Sports Towards a Healthy Life." An 80-plus-200 purple and brown pictures a student at his books. The souvenir sheet inscription describes the stamp as portraying "Treasures of Science in Service of the People."

A workman with a hammer over his shoulder is pictured against a background of a factory on an 80-plus-300 brown and purple described "For a Free and Happy Romania" on the souvenir sheet. A worker, a peasant and a scholar march beneath the Romanian flag on a 200-plus-400 green and orange value which bears the inscription on the souvenir sheet "Through Unity Towards Progress."

Two airmail stamps of the same series are a 200-lei blue with green border which pictures a two-motored plane at an airport, and a 500-lei blue and orange brown portraying the profile of a pilot against a sky in which three planes are visible. The souvenir sheet inscription for each is "In the Service of Peace and Progress."

HOLLYWOOD — The sight of two Olivia de Havillands on the screen is a little distracting at first, but "The Dark Mirror" settles down presently into a first-rate psychological thriller. Olivia plays identical twin sisters, one of them sweet, the other capable of murder. Police Detective Thomas Mitchell must try to find out which of them plunged a pair of scissors into the heart of a society physician.

Olivia

In this he is aided by Psychiatrist Lew Ayres, who uses ink-blot tests and a lie detector in an effort to determine which is the twin he loves.

It is a screen comeback, and a good one, for smooth ex-Sgt. Ayres, who entered World War II as a conscientious objector and later served 22 months as a chaplain's assistant with a portable hospital in Pacific fighting zones. The screen's one-time "Dr. Kildare" again wears a white coat.

The double-de Havilland effect was accomplished with a split screen. Scene by scene, the twin-sister lines were spoken by Olivia and Amelita Ward. Then the two exchanged positions and dialogue and repeated each scene. The two films were split down the middle and the two halves with Olivia on them matched up to make a master print.

Rough, tough Tombstone, Ariz., full of prospectors, gamblers, cowhands, and dancehall girls in the early 1880s, is the setting for 20th Century-Fox's excellent gun drama, "My Darling Clementine."

Gaunt Henry Fonda, in his first post-Navy role, plays Wyatt Earp, famous gunfighting marshal who cleaned up Dodge City, Wichita, and Tombstone. Victor Mature, similarly returning to the screen after doffing his Coast Guard uniform, is an excellent "Doc" Holliday, saloon boss adored by a Spanish singer (Linda Darnell).

Fonda's feud with the Clanton gang, led by Walter Brennan, reaches a nifty climax in the O.K. Corral.

RKO's "Lady Luck" never attains the light-hearted spontaneity and speed appropriate for a story of rattling dice and vanishing bankrolls. Barbara Hale, in her debut as a star, hates gambling. Gambling improverished her father (Frank Morgan) and his forebears. She marries Gambler Robert Young, who promises to reform, but before they reach the honeymoon suite, she catches him at a roulette table.

Stepping Up Is a Bum Step

BALTIMORE — (AP) — The Northern Central Railroad Commuters Association doesn't want any steps on its new station lest "bums" sleep on them. C J. Henry, Baltimore superintendent for the Pennsylvania railroad, offered a compromise of shortening the proposed stairs from seven steps to four. J. Purdon Wright, spokesman for the commuters, said this plan was unsatisfactory. "We don't want the steps, and I don't care how much it costs the railroad," said Wright "They can raise our fares." Eliminating the steps would involve grading the grounds.

RICHMAN WORKERS GET BONUS CHECKS

The 10 employes of the Richman Brothers store in Mansfield will receive bonuses and holiday checks amount to as much as three weeks' pay for veteran workers, C. H. Saylor, manager, said yesterday.

Bonus checks equal to two weeks' pay for older employes and one week's pay for employes with less than five years service with the firm more than four months will get a Christmas check equal to one week's pay, Saylor said.

The firm, which operates 60 stores in 13 states, provides free life insurance, hospitalization, sick benefits, and loans without interest for workers. Many employes own stock in the company.

3—In Memoriam

IN LOVING memory of Mrs. Sam Williams, our mother and wife, who died 1 year ago, December 20, 1945.
One year has passed and gone
Since our mother we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell
The flowers we placed upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
Sadly missed by husband, children and grandchildren.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

STOCKS CLIMB FOR 4TH WEEK

NEW YORK —(AP)— The stock market yesterday concluded four successive recovery weeks for the first time in more than a year although mild profit taking irregularity continued in the final session.

Selectivity was the rule from the start of the brief proceedings and, while a smattering of relatively strong spots was in evidence at the close, many leaders did very little or ended in the minus ranks. Dealings totaled 630,000 shares.

Replacement purchasing by those who had sold for income tax purposes again served as one of the principal trend props. As in preceding sessions, bidding was attributed to hopes for a good rally at the year-end and early in January, in addition to some optimism over labor relations and improved industrial production.

The day's better performers included American Smelting, up 2½ at 59¾; Douglas Aircraft 2 at 74½, Western Union "A" 1⅝ at 21⅞ (again buoyed by the petition for higher rates), Transcontinental & Western Air 1⅜ at 22⅞, Phillip Morris 1⅜ at 38 and Chrysler 1 at 92½.

Modest advances were retained by General Motors, American Telephone, Great Northern, Texas Co., American Can, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, General Electric, Consolidated Edison and International Telephone.

Among losers were Bethlehem U. S. Rubber, Woolworth, Oliver Corp., United Aircraft, North American, International Nickel, Du Pont, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio and Johns-Manville

KILLED IN CRASH

ELYRIA — (AP) — Mrs. Ida Lucal, 55, of nearby Collins, O., was killed Saturday and five members of her family were injured in an auto-truck collision on Route 20, east of Oberlin.

Chatter Corner

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hoffman, 150 West Third street, receiving word that their son, Harold, has arrived in Honolulu from Camp Stoneman, Calif. He is serving with the Signal Corps and is a former employe of the Humphryes Manufacturing company.

L. R Zimmerman, former Mansfield fire captain, planning open house Christmas day at his cottage southeast of Mansfield. . . . William Wing, ex-Mansfielder, sending friends here holiday greetings from New York City where he's living now. . . . Youngsters having a big time coasting down the short but steep grade on a lawn at Marion and Sturges avenues. . . . Adj R L Gutterman, making a good Santa Claus, tending one of the Salvation Army coin pots on North Main street Saturday afternoon

SCHOOLMATES—Of the three replies concerning last Sunday's album picture, two were partly correct. Mrs. Maude Voegele Benson, 133 Stewart avenue, and Mrs. F. C. Lutz, 266 Rowland avenue, both remember it as a class at Bowman school. Mrs. Voegele thinks it must have been the sixth grade about 1889. However, it was a picture of fifth grade pupils instead of the sixth. William A. Harris, 237 Glessner avenue, was of the opinion that it was at West Fifth street about 40 to 45 years ago. Mrs. Voegele can identify all the pupils except one boy. Many of the girls are married and 13 have died, according to Mrs. Benson. As she remembers them, they are, beginning with the top row and reading left to right: Robert Moore, Walter Burd (deceased), Bert Church (deceased), Bellie Geddes, (deceased), Hattie Murphy, Emma Eyerly (deceased), Mame Eyerly (deceased), Frank Eby (deceased), Vinson Loder (deceased), Laura Yoha, Emma Schocker (deceased), Etta Carnahan, Della Kunckle, Mame Loder, George Henry (deceased), Herbert Loder, Charles McDermott, unidentified, Nettie Brannon, Myrtle Uhlich (now Mrs. F. C. Lutz), Myrtle Valentine, Charles Turner (deceased), George Uhlich, Edward Kipp, Katie Green, Mame Daum (deceased), Addie Call, Milton Sealts, Blanche Hunt, Carrie Nixon (deceased), Pearl Bilestine (deceased), Maude Voegele Benson and Grace Price.

Woman Attains 102nd Birthday

SHELBY—Miss Malina Myers, Shelby's oldest resident, today observes her 102nd birthday

The aged woman, who still is active and in good health, will be honored at an open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs Elmer Olds, with whom she lives

She was born in a log cabin west of here in 1844, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs John Myers. The Myers were one of Shelby's pioneer settlers, and homesteaded on land near here in 1831.

Miss Myers is the last surviving member of the family of 13 children.

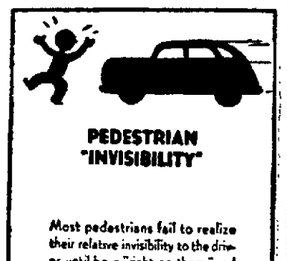
CITY COUNCILMEN AL-ready have engaged in preliminary discussions concerning improving Mansfield's lighting system through use of money saved by a $35,000 reduction in the city's street lighting bill. The city now pays nothing for lights.

Service-Safety Director Enlow said that a survey of the city's lighting system has been made by Westinghouse corporation engineers. He said, however, that he has not yet received a report on the results.

Chairman of council's lighting committee, Councilman Charles Anglin, said that a trial installation of a new type of light is being considered. If the proposal goes through the lights would be installed in a two-block area in order to check their efficiency, he said.



PEDESTRIAN "INVISIBILITY"

Most pedestrians fail to realize their relative invisibility to the driver until he is "right on them", and most drivers forget this pedestrian ignorance.

It's impossible, J. C. Adams states in the American Magazine, to whistle and blow your nose at the same time.

ALL-OUT CIVIL WAR IN CHINA NOW IMMINENT

Nationalists Ready to Resume Full-Scale Offensive.

PEIPING —(AP)— High-ranking Chinese government and communists leaders agreed today that all-out civil war was imminent.

Gen Li Tsung-Jen, chief of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Peiping headquarters, declared in an interview that government armies would resume their offensive shortly if the communists continued to ignore the government cease-fire order of Nov. 11.

From Yenan, communist capital city, came a declaration by Li Shao-Chi, communist party vice-chairman, that the government and the United States had driven the communists into arms and "we cannot be beaten; we will never surrender."

Also from Yenan, Gen. Chou En-Lai, No. 2 communist and chief negotiator in the fruitless and now ruptured peace conferences, said his forces were prepared to "launch an all-out strategic offensive" in six months if the government refused to return its troops to the positions of Jan. 13, when an ineffectual agreement was made.

Reds Claim Gains.

Chou held that communist military strength was increasing and "we feel amply able to smash the Kuomintang (government party) offensives."

Chou claimed the government forces had been greatly weakened in the past year of desultory fighting and that the major cities, such as Kalgan, which the government has taken have proved an embarrassment due to the necessity of heavily garrisoning them.

On the government side, General Li said, "the communists have captured many of our cities since our cease-fire order went into effect six weeks ago.

"I have instructed my commanders to follow the cease-fire order strictly and not to fight unless attacked. My forces thus are put at a great disadvantage.

Actually, he said, the communists are stalling for time.

"They keep talking of negotiations but actually are using this to attain their end—gain time in which to extend their sphere of influence."

'46 Polio Worst In Thirty Years

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Polio this year had its worst epidemic in 30 years and $24,000,000 is needed to continue the battle against it in 1947, Basil O'Connor of New York, president of the national foundation for infantile paralysis, says.

O'Connor said polio was a "most expensive disease" and estimated the cost of treatment for a single case at between $1,200 and $2,500 a year.

UNIONS SEEK 455 MILLIONS FROM INDUSTRY

President of the AFL United Auto Workers, said his union was checking the advisability of suits in all "applicable" cases among its 200,000 members throughout the country.

In Milwaukee, Meyer Adelman, director of district 32 of the CIO United Steelworkers, said he expected to complete soon a seven months check on behalf of 50,000 workers in some 75 locals with the view of filing damage suits.

Industry leaders, after the court ruling, had expressed fears that the government and business stands to lose between five and six billion dollars unless some limit is placed on the liability of employers.

The national industrial conference board in New York, after surveying 74 top management executives on the import of the court's decision said "a significant number asserted that it will have widespread and more serious repercussions than most businesses anticipate."

In a ruling at Cleveland, affecting $198,000,000 portal to portal suits filed in that area, Federal Judge Paul Jones held that Ohio's three year statute of limitations must apply in that area.

* * *

Ask $120,000,000.

The second largest number of suits already started have been filed at Pittsburgh, where at least $120,000,000 is sought for 120,000 steel workers. Suits seeking $6,000,000 in behalf of 8,500 workers were filed in Springfield, Ill., Chicago, St. Louis and South Bend, Ind.

The CIO- .W also has filed suits for $2,318,000 against employers at Saginaw, Mich., and said it plans another $1,000,000 claim against additional Saginaw employers. Kenneth Forbes, UAW regional director, said virtually all Saginaw industries were "potential targets" for such suits.

The National Industrial conference board said industries most apprehensive of the effect of the supreme court decision included those whose buildings and work places are widely scattered or distant from entrances to company property or whose time clocks were distant from an employe's place of work.

The bill was introduced in the last congress to define the time limitations on retroactivity of such claims but the measure finally died before final action was taken. The labor and justice departments originally proposed a five year limitation but finally compromised on three years. The United States Chamber of Commerce and other management groups suggested one year. The house set a two year limitation and the senate three but no agreement was reached before congress adjourned.

The Chamber of Commerce is planning a referendum of its members on the question, but results may not be known before Feb. 1.

Raymond S. Smethurst, general counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, contended recently that management had no assurance that any settlements it reached on the question would stand up at a later date.

WINTER DRIVING TIPS ARE LISTED

As snow-bound roads pushed the accident score higher, Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals yesterday issued these warnings to drivers who don't want to skid their way into a "black" Christmas:

1. "Get the "feel" of the road by trying brakes while driving slowly and when no other vehicles are near.

2. "Reduce speed so you can stop in time if faced with an emergency. Remember—you may find icy surfaces on bridges or shaded sections of an otherwise clear road surface.

3. "Apply brakes lightly and intermittently—jamming them on may lock them and throw your car or truck into a dangerous skid.

4. "You must see danger to avoid it. Keep windshield and windows clear of snow and ice outside, and fog and frost inside.

5. "Use tire chains on ice and snow. They may reduce braking distance 40 to 50 per cent and provide needed 'go' traction."

The traffic commissioner also offered another cold weather warning: "Beware of carbon monoxide poisoning! Never warm up you car in a closed garage."

Pledge of Allegiance to Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Shrinkage Threatens British Empire

IN THE BRITISH house of commons, Friday, Winston Churchill gave the funeral oration of an empire. It was not a sad and solemn requiem. It was an angry, fighting speech.

Churchill and his family have represented the great imperial tradition of Britain. It was that tradition which permitted a tiny island to rule vast areas of the globe and boast that the sun never set on its flag. A nation of shopkeepers became a nation of world traders under the empire system.

With Prime Minister Attlee's announcement that Burma, one of England's treasure houses, is to be given its independence the end of the empire was definitely signaled. Negotiations are already under way for the freeing of India, another of Britain's richest possessions.

Churchill sees the end clearly and it angers him. Men of his school of thought maintain that empires have brought great advancement to civilization.

Attlee sees the picture otherwise. He and his party feel that Britain has tried to hold on too long to subject peoples. These peoples have long resented the British. They have pointed to the United States which willingly gave up the Philippines—its only real claim to empire.

The Dutch are seeing plenty of trouble in their East Indian domain. The German and Italian overseas holdings have cracked and fallen apart.

The day of empires may be over. Or it may be only a reshuffle such as occurred after the decline and fall of Rome. Russia certainly shows no signs of abandoning her imperialism as yet. Time will tell that story.

Meanwhile, Churchill's impassioned oration stands as a gravestone for an era that is dead—although some of its vestiges linger in the world.

Exploring Roots of Delinquency

A STUDY by the National Conference for the Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency has revealed that many communities are at work with carefully thought-out programs for reducing youthful lawlessness.

In Rochester, N. Y., and in San Francisco, parent education courses under child guidance specialists have proved helpful. Seattle has set up nursery and pre-school age play groups. In Omaha, Neb., public schools have been opened for homemaking classes for adults. Toledo is giving community programs stressing suggestions for ideal family life. In Marshall county, Alabama, home recreation is getting serious study. In the high schools of Highland Park, Mich., courses in general homemaking have been given.

Other plans for bringing about more wholesome behavior are development of family counseling services; holding co-operative community institutes on family problems; workshops on child development for teachers, parents, doctors, nurses and social workers; distribution of leaflets through schools to help parents keep up with new ideas on home life and child guidance.

Obviously some people are really doing something constructive about the problem. Certainly that is more effective than merely bewailing it.

Help Make It a SAFE Christmas

IN ORDER to be merry, Christmas must be safe. That is a truth that could well be made a slogan for every driver over the holidays. And the Mansfield Safety Council puts out a few very timely hints on the subject.

Be extra cautious behind the wheel, the council urges. Make no sudden movements. Accelerate and stop gradually to avoid skids. Sudden or speedy turns are frequent causes of accidents.

Frost on clear streets can be almost as dangerous as ice, the council warns.

Pedestrians walking with the green light have the right-of-way. It is not only courteous IT IS THE LAW to permit them to make the crossing when they have the light, even if you must wait while making a turn.

Make your Christmas safe—and merry!

Genius That 'Runs In the Family'

JULIAN HUXLEY, member of a distinguished British family, has been elected director general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, called UNESCO for short. A famous biologist, Huxley comes naturally by his scientific tastes, for his grandfather was Thomas Henry Huxley, the friend of Darwin and popularizer of the theory of evolution.

Julian has an even better known brother, the novelist Aldous, a scathing interpreter of social life among the wealthy and portrayer of strange pictures of the world as it may be 200 years from now. Though his first books were written in Great Britain, he has been living for some years in the United States.

The careers of Julian and Aldous Huxley form a refutation of the popular theory that descendants of great men never amount to anything. Very often they merely seem of lesser ability in comparison with a high concentration of powers in their illustrious forebears.

Co-operation In the Caribbean Area

AN ENCOURAGING bit of international co-operation is the recent creation of a Caribbean commission which, with a research council and a West India conference, will act as a controlling and advisory body to the four nations with territory in the Caribbean: The United States, France, The Netherlands and Great Britain. The agreement also provides for a permanent secretariat to be established at Port of Spain, Trinidad, to be headed by an American.

This organization is the peace-time evolution of a war commission set up by Britain and America to manage economic and nationality problems. It is a little area of international co-operation which may serve as inspiration for other programs of international control for bigger stretches of the earth's surface.

Brightening the prospect for next year are the glad tidings that Republican leaders in the new congress are in favor of a short session, fewer laws and lower taxes—and crown these noble aspirations!

European Directs Fierce Tirade At 'Foolishness' of Americans

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

AMONG the scores of letters received by this writer each week, there is occasionally a remarkable one which illuminates a whole sector of life in this Age of Irritation.

This week there came a notable one — remarkable because it seemed, more clearly than all the columns and reports of foreign correspondents, to reveal the anarchy and despair which hangs like a fog over all Europe and particularly over defeated Germany. It seemed also to illuminate the incredible difference between life in Europe and life in this country.

BROMFIELD

It illuminated, too, the incredible folly of the American people as a whole who, sitting in the midst of plenty, choose through greed and selfishness, strikes and chiseling, to disrupt the very foundations of their existence and to destroy the things—the prosperity, the security, the decency which have gone, perhaps for generations and centuries to come—from the face of Europe and for which many a European today would give everything he possesses.

The letter came out of Germany, written by a man who was part German, part Dutch, living actually in Germany, a stranger to me, and to judge from his letter, a frightening stranger. The letter was written from the inside out. It was personally abusive but in its abuse lay the revelations. The abuse was not directed in reality at me, for a book on agriculture which I had written, but at all the American people of whom I was merely a symbol.

Between each line there was hatred and envy, not for me whom the writer had never seen, but for the security, the plenty, the ease of life revealed in that book.

It was clear that the writer resented this American life which in writing I seemed, as he wrote, to have taken for granted as the right of every American.

Consciously, he tried to focus his abuse upon me personally but the long letter kept getting out of focus and spilling a little light upon the whole of America.

And as I read, I realized that the writer was not expressing simply his beliefs and hatreds, but those of millions of Europeans who envied the liberties, the wealth, the security, the political peace which we accept so lightly and frivolously and so often, with little sense of responsibility.

He wrote, "It is all very well for you to write about the need for producing more food at lower prices. What can food mean to you? With us the production of all food is controlled. A bureaucrat checks on every turnip produced by a farmer and comes along later to collect it for a price that allows the grower no profit and usually a loss. The shrewd, crooked ones manage somehow to filter some of what they raise into the Black Market where the chiselers, the traitors, the dishonest buy it for high prices in a system which corrupts the whole soul and spirit of the people."

And a little later on he writes—"And your working man. What is he complaining about? He lives in luxury compared to any European workman, with plenty of food and even automobiles. We have had revolutions all over Europe in the last generation, but they have made no one happier or better off. The working man is always the victim, in Germany or in Russia. He is worse off today in both countries than he has been since feudal times.

"Oh yes, you have agitators over there who are going to make every working man a millionaire but when they've finished their program, your workingman will be where ours is—and God help him! You are the damndest, foolishest man and your country is the damndest foolishest country in the world. It's all right for you to sit and write about better production and plenty and a good life.

"C——! What do any of you Americans know about a hard life in which a bureaucrat (functionaire) watches you all day long, checking on every breath you draw, where working men and women fight for a turnip or an old worn-out pair of shoes?

"If we had a quarter of the natural wealth or the agricultural land you have, we'd be living better than any of you because we'd know how to manage it and not waste it the way you do.

"Everybody's got money in America to do things with and they throw it around on nightclubs and gambling and cinemas and God knows what. You don't know what thrift or hard work are. It does my belly good to see you messing up your own lives, throwing what you've got out of the window and ruining everything. It's what you deserve. It ought to happen quicker. Then you'd know what it was like to be poor and miserable."

And so on, the letter went, and somehow it seemed to me that it wasn't one voice but millions of voices speaking with hatred and envy and mockery at the spectacle of American life, at the strikes, the greed, the laziness which only a rich country can afford and which can in time destroy the good fortune that Americans know, almost alone today among the nations of the world.

Perhaps it wasn't, in the end, so much hatred and envy of our good fortune as contempt for what we were doing with it. Wasting brutally and stupidly the precious things which all the rest of the world had never known and might never know.

Assignment: America

Precedent Cited As Way to Oust Bilbo.

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON—For more than a week now, a senate committee has dug deeply into the charges that Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi accepted cash and "gratuities" for throwing his legislative weight around in the granting of war contracts.

Just prior to this probe, another state committee journeyed down to Jackson to consider charges that Bilbo's bombastic oratory resulted directly in mistreatment of Negroes at Mississippi's primary polls—or actually was the cause of keeping many from voting.

Had the evidence been definitely, legally and incontrovertibly affirmative in either case, Bilbo unquestionably would have been denied his seat in the senate in the coming session of congress.

However, at present speaking, it seems extremely unlikely that either committee will turn in such a damning report.

And the people who detest such men as Senator Bilbo, and who have been following these two hearings every day, are likely to be doomed to disappointment.

For, no matter how much you might dislike Bilbo, it is not a question of merely presenting evidence against him, but rather is a question of fully authenticating and substantiating that evidence.

Veteran capital lawyers who are not connected with the cases tell this correspondent that such proof has not yet been provided.

Nevertheless, while all of these dramatic didos were in progress, the one bit of activity which may well unseat Senator Bilbo was being pressed—quietly, persistently and unpublicized.

It was the careful and detailed legal brief being prepared by Rep. Charles M. LaFollette, the Indiana Republican, who believes Bilbo can be pushed out of the senate on the basis of established precedent.

Congressman LaFollette does not bother with Bilbo's idealogical theories, or the business he may or may not have done with war contractors.

Those were dramatic subjects but, he feels, not only useless until proved but also utterly unnecessary for the unseating of the senior Mississippi senator.

He has concerned himself simply with the fact that the Bilbo forces have admitted, during the two hearings and even before, that large sums of money were spent in the Mississippi primary election—which sent "The Man" back to the senate.

Congressman LaFollette uses the records on Frank L. Smith of Illinois and William S. Vare of Pennsylvania as cases in point.

In the primary elections of 1926, they were charged with accepting and spending large sums of money during the course of their campaigns. So great were the sums of money involved, in fact, that the senate ruled such expenditures were "contrary to sound policy, harmful to the dignity and honor of the senate, dangerous to the perpetuity of free government," and tainted with fraud and corruption.

More important, the senate denied both of them the right to take the oath of office and, by majority vote, declared their seats vacant.

LaFollette contends that the Smith and Vare cases set a senatorial precedent indicating that a single act of so-called "excess" expenditures, encouraged or condoned by the elected senator, invalidates the election — even though it does not affect the numerical result of that election.

In other words, if it was "contrary to sound public policy" in the cases of Smith and Vare, it still is today.

And if it is, then—when all the colorful tumult and shouting dies—it may be that Bilbo can be unseated by just such score-keeping.

Timely Editorial

Home State Impression.

Harold E. Stassen spoke of his own unorthodoxy in announcing his candidacy for the 1948 presidential nomination.

Such a course as he has taken may be unorthodox in political circles, where a certain amount of double talk is taken for granted. But Minnesotans will see in it no deviation from the frankness which has always been Stassen's habit in public life and which is in so much part responsible for the trust which the voters who know him have in him.

Before he ran for his third term as governor, he announced that he would resign midway in that assignment. He has called his shots as long as he has been in public life.

There is no unorthodoxy for Mr. Stassen in his frank announcement. It is of the same pattern as his other open dealing, which has paid good dividends in the past—both for the public and Mr. Stassen.—Minneapolis Star.

Crack In Russia's Iron Curtain Brings Betterment of Relations

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Most important unwritten story of the recent United Nations meeting is that Foreign Commissar Molotov and Vice-Commissar Vishinsky came to the United States prepared to pull Russia permanently out of the United Nations.

Jimmy Byrnes and Sen. Warren Austin are the men who saved the day.

From secret sources they learned that a terrific battle was raging inside the Soviet Politburo regarding the value of the United Nations. The issue came to a head when Molotov flew back to Moscow just before the end of the Paris conference. When Molotov got back to Moscow, one Politburo faction was convinced that Britain and the U. S. were determined to use the United Nations as an instrument for forming an anti-Soviet united front. The Politburo faction was convinced that dominant Wall Street forces planned to use some incident like Iran or Greece as an excuse for dropping atomic bombs on Russia.

PEARSON

Molotov and Stalin, however, disagreed with this extremist, belligerent view. Finally, it was decided that the acid test would be the American attitude toward the veto.

If the U. S. and Britain scrapped the veto power, it was decided during the secret debate, it would be the signal for the Russian delegation to walk out. Russia would be left in complete isolation.

It is also understood that during the Politburo debates, Molotov decided to make a strong speech calling for world disarmament and calculated to test the genuine sincerity of the United States as a peaceful nation. If the United States ducked the disarmament issue, it was calculated that the USSR would appear a peaceful nation, the USA as a warmonger.

Wise Senator Austin.

Senator Austin, chief of the American delegation and a man who has shown increasing stature as a statesman, sensed the Russian fears almost at once.

Result was that when Molotov made his bristling, though initial, talk to the general assembly, Austin called a hasty meeting of the American delegation.

Result of the meeting was a split. Senator Vandenberg, Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas of California, Mrs. Roosevelt, and Chicago's Adlai Stevenson all urged Austin to call Russia's bluff and come out emphatically for disarmament. However, Wall Street's John Foster Dulles and Texas Tom Connally were not enthusiastic. Neither were some of the career advisers from the state department.

In the end, when Austin, a hard-headed Vermonter, rose to talk, he refused to answer Molotov's bitter invective. Instead, he spoke cordially but effectively for disarmament. This was one of the most important speeches of the entire conference. From that point on, the first slight conciliatory Russian overtones became apparent at committee meetings.

At the council of foreign ministers, however, Molotov continued to talk tough. With a trivia of arguments over the Balkan treaties, he tried to wear Jimmy Byrnes down. Finally, Byrnes took the bull by the horns, held a one-hour heart-to-heart talk with Molotov.

What Russia's No. 2 man really wanted to know was where the U. S. stood on revision of the veto. Byrnes reassured him. Flatly he declared that the United States believed as firmly in the rule of unanimity (veto) now as it did at San Francisco.

Molotov was elated. Dramatically, next day, he agreed to five American proposals on the peace treaties. Next day, also, Russian delegates fell in line at the general assembly.

Since then, things have moved swiftly. For the first time since V-J Day, the Russians have been acting as believers in, as well as members of, the United Nations.

Other delegations have also sensed the change in the suspicious Russians. The Soviet delegation had been consistently outvoted for the past year. But after Molotov changed his tune, Russia won several victories of varying importance, even getting British empire support on at least two measures.

The suspicious Russians now seem to have learned that the charter of the United Nations is a guarantee of fair treatment for countries which fairly play the game.

Crack In Iron Curtain.

Most amazing proof of the new Russian attitude was Molotov's invitation to the press of the world to come to Moscow for the March foreign ministers conference and operate with the same freedom the press had in Paris and New York. It hasn't been announced, but the Russians have agreed to let the U. N. set up a Moscow office, through which it will be able to distribute information about other countries direct to the Russian people. The Russians say they won't censor the literature or have any control over the U. N. official picked to work in Moscow.

Greatest evidence of the new Soviet line is the agreement to permit United Nations arms inspectors to inspect Russian arms factories under the disarmament plan. This appears to be unconditional lifting of the iron curtain and paves the way for genuine friendship.

Cold fact is that the Russians are still almost brutally suspicious, terribly sensitive. However, the ravages of war have given the Soviet an enormous job of reconstruction. For this, peace is absolutely necessary—together with outside loans and credits. To get them, the Russians know they have to play ball as genuine members of the family of nations.

Listen World: "A Christmas Letter."

MY DEAR:—

How many years have you and I been partners in this space? Thirty perhaps . . . or ten . . . or even five? And now it's Christmas week again and with all my heart I wish that I could give each unseen partner some Yuletide gift.

But how can one give fifty million people separate gifts?

It can't be done. There's only one thing that I'm sure will spread the length and breadth of all America or even overseas. This thing cannot be bought with money though one had a pile. It carries no gift wrapping for its simple form. It drags down no green tinseled branches on the Christmas tree.

For this that I would give you . . . all that I can give . . . is love.

So on this Christmas week I send my love to you. Perhaps you wonder how a woman can send love to fifty million strangers she has never seen? But I have seen you. In every human that I knew I've seen your need, your loneliness and despair. I've seen them in the faces that I pass and in my own sad heart I've shared such pain myself.

I've needed love as much as you can ever need. I've known loneliness behind these flying keys. And often, far more often than you know, the thought of you has lifted me above my need.

And so today I send the only gift I can . . . my love and gratitude . . . to you who, year by year, have helped me fill this space. For all of you I make this one wide prayer . . .

"God bless you! Fill your week with peace and joy and give you that new hope that once was born in Bethlehem to strengthen you in the hard days ahead."

ELSIE

Calvin A. Byers

Farmer's Diary: "Gifts—and Gifts."

CHRISTMAS gifts are hard for some people to take. To be able to express appreciation well is to enhance the gift. Writing of My Most Unforgettable Character in January Reader's Digest, Anne Morrow Lindbergh says it beautifully, like this:

"Warmed by his welcome, how beautiful became the things that one brought him. So often one has the opposite experience, gifts shrivel under the critical gaze of the recipient. One is like a child running in from the beach with a jewel found in the retreating rim of the tide, only to have it fade to an ordinary stone on the dry palm of another."

* * *

THIS gift bringing time of year brings to mind that remark of Kin Hubbard's, "It's no disgrace to be poor—but it might as well be." If you've never been poor, you won't understand it. It happened to me this way once. My wife and I were invited to a rich man's home and while looking over his premises, he suddenly handed me a very artistic foreign almanac, remarking, "Perhaps you'd like this copy. It sells for $2.50—the money to go for War Relief."

Now, as it happened, that was before teachers' salaries were raised! I favored war relief for the country in question, but I had only fifteen cents . . . if I told him that, he would think I expected a gift . . . so I stammered a bit, and my wife changed the subject or something, and no doubt, in his mind, I am still just an uncouth boor.

* * *

ONE of my favorite Christmas stories is that one of O. Henry's, "The Gift of the Magi." You likely remember it.

A young married couple were very poor, yet each wanted to get the other a suitable Christmas gift.

He prized a beautiful fob which he had inherited,—but which he could not wear because he had no watch.

She had beautiful long dark hair—her chief claim to beauty. When her husband admired it, she wished for jeweled combs.

Christmas came. Each bought a splendid gift. When the gifts were opened, he had sold his fob to buy her a pair of jeweled combs. But she—she had cut off and sold her hair to buy him a fine gold watch!

They had a blessed Christmas. Each had the other.

As Others See It

Simple Enough.

There can be no quarrel with the logic of upping the price of a juke box tune. Nothing is changed. If it wasn't worth a nickel, it isn't worth a dime.—Detroit News.

As You May Have Noticed.

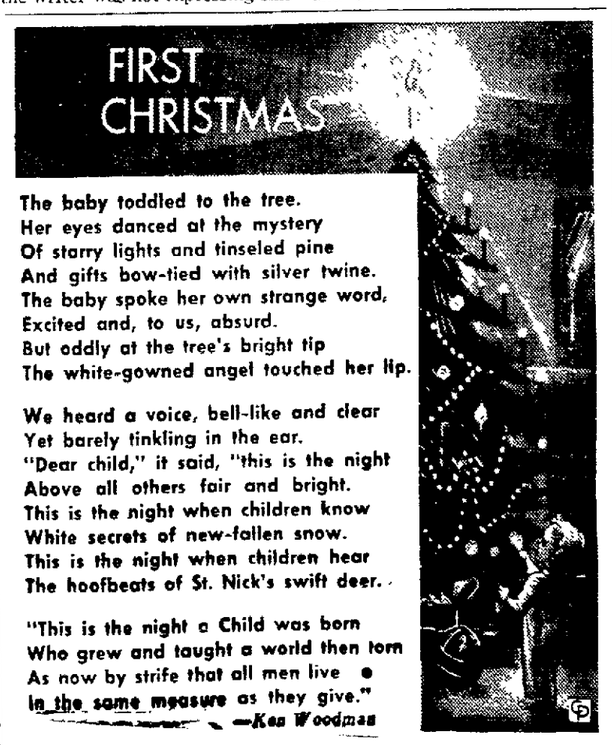
Time surely does fly. It seems almost no time since we were so young and hopeful that we thought we would some day get our home paid for.—Kansas City Times.

Words of the Wise

The recognition of sin is the beginning of salvation.—Luther.

ODD FACT

About 15,000 drugs have been tested experimentally to destroy malarial infection in the human body.



The baby toddled to the tree.
Her eyes danced at the mystery
Of starry lights and tinseled pine
And gifts bow-tied with silver twine.
The baby spoke her own strange word,
Excited and, to us, absurd.
But oddly at the tree's bright tip
The white-gowned angel touched her lip.

We heard a voice, bell-like and clear
Yet barely tinkling in the ear.
"Dear child," it said, "this is the night
Above all others fair and bright.
This is the night when children know
White secrets of new-fallen snow.
This is the night when children hear
The hoofbeats of St. Nick's swift deer.

"This is the night a Child was born
Who grew and taught a world then torn
As now by strife that all men live
In the same measure as they give."

TWENTY FEET HIGH. One of the prettiest and largest of Christmas trees in Mansfield greets scores of visitors to the city in the lobby of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Twenty feet high, its top branches touch the ceiling. Erected last week, the tree will probably be kept in position until the weekend after New Year's day, Eugene C. Ozier, manager of the hotel, said.

'Modern Miracle' Tag Hung On VA's Program

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— "The Modern Miracle of Medicine" is what a committee of top-flight medical men, in a report to President Truman, called the medical set-up in the Veterans Administration (VA).

A year ago the VA's department of medicine and surgery was established by special act of congress. Dr. Paul R. Hawley, former army chief surgeon in the European theater, heads the department.

Dr. Paul Magnuson, formerly of Northwestern university medical school, one of Hawley's top aides, gives this reason for VA's success:

"VA's medical care is now in the hands of the medical profession. In the old VA it was in the hands of laymen."

* * *

DR. MAGNUSON, DR. CARL MENNINGER, a founder of the Menninger Psychiatric clinic, Topeka, Kas.; Dr. Donald Covalt, former chief of Army Air Forces rehabilitation; Dr. Roscoe J. Miller, former dean of Northwestern medical school, and Dr. Daniel Blain, one of the nation's leading psychiatrists, are a few of the medical brains who a year ago fashioned the frame work of the VA medical program.

Today they are working hard toward its completion.

They and others like them have sacrificed lucrative private practices to throw their weight behind the vast program.

* * *

TO CARRY OUT HIS PROGRAM, Hawley needed two things: new hospitals and competent doctors and nurses to staff them.

Some $772,000,000 has been appropriated for construction. That sum was to build 74 new hospitals and additions to several existing ones, but owing to the rising cost of labor and materials more money will be needed before completion of the construction, scheduled for 1950.

There has been criticism of delays in getting this largest hospital construction program in the history of the world under way. Few new hospitals have actually been started.

Dr. Hawley points out that selecting good, easily-accessible sites takes time. He wants to put his hospitals just as close to medical schools as he can. His whole program depends upon close coordination between medical schools and VA hospitals.

* * *

HE SAYS ALSO THAT EVEN if the hospitals were completed tomorrow he couldn't get the doctors to staff them.

VA has hired 3,200 full-time doctors and many more part-time consultants in the past nine months. Improved pay is attracting more doctors and nurses, but even so the enormous patient load occupies every one VA can get.

VA now has 110 hospitals in use, 28 of which are surplus army and navy hospitals under temporary VA operation.

These 110 hospitals care for more than 85,000 patients. Another 12,000 veterans reside in 12 VA domiciliary homes and 6,000 in federal and army and navy hospitals.

In 1950 the patient load is expected to be 159,000 veterans. The peak load won't be reached until 1975.

* * *

UNDER THE LAW VA IS obligated to care for only those veterans who have service-connected disabilities. But the law specifies that VA must care for a veteran needing hospitalization for a non-service-connected disability if he signs a statement he is financially unable to pay for private treatment, and if there is a bed available for him in a VA hospital.

At present 25,000 veterans are waiting to get into VA hospitals for treatment for non-service-connected disabilities. Virtually all service-connected cases get immediate treatment in VA hospitals or in private hospitals having contracts with VA.

MOUSE IN CAT FAMILY

HAGERSTOWN —(AP)— Leland Shugar said his tiger-striped cat, 14 years old and mother of more than 100 kittens, made up for a slack in production by getting a mouse to keep her one new-born kitten company. When discovered by Shugar, all three — mother, kitten and mouse—were closely snuggled in a basket.

REHEARSE TODAY

Officers of Naomi Shrine will rehearse at 1:30 p. m. today at Eagle hall.

Horoscope

For Sunday, December 22.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a decidedly critical and challenging one, with a basis of the sudden, startling and unpredictable. It may prove dramatic and thrilling, yet a slight misjudgment or mistake might exact unpredictable penalties. Unforeseen and baffling events having far-reaching climax, call for poise, perfect composure and restraint of the emotions and impulses.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of exciting and sudden events, with radical uprootings or changes, difficult to foresee or anticipate. Disruption and abrupt change may have long-range consequence, therefore all decisions should be based on profound and deep-seated values, and not grasped on foundations of the emotional, erratic, or temperamental.

For Monday, December 23.

Monday's astrological forecast encourages an energetic attack on well-organized plans in the development of propositions and objectives of more than passing importance. Under a highly stimulated and constructive plan of action there should be wise cooperation from superiors, elders and influential persons, with the idea of placing finances and security on a sound basis for future progress and good fortune. New endeavors for such benign purpose are under splendid auspices.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very constructive year, in which new and important projects and plans are in line for the generous support and approbation from influential persons. Seek these well-organized and productive ideas sustained by hard work, determination, ingenuity and skill. Such plans should have far vision, with the determination to put the future and its fortunes on a solid foundation for long-range growth and expansion.

Books for the Younger Set

The books reviewed in this column will be available Monday at the Public Library.

The Morrows were eating breakfast when the milkman came. There on the porch was the dearest little black kitten. They kept the kitten and they named it Lollypop. Lollypop grew fat and funny and was very happy until one day Pablo came to visit. Pablo was a dog. He chased Lollypop up a tree. There Lollypop stayed and would not come down. If you want to know how long she stayed or if she ever came down you must read KITTEN COME DOWN by Frances Bacon.

Ingri and Edgar Parin D'Aulaire have written and made pictures for many, many books for boys and girls. Their newest one is POCAHONTAS. The book has big full page illustrations that tell the story almost as well as the words. Some of the pictures are in color. The story tells how happy Pocahontas was when she was a little girl. She was her father's pet and her father was a chief. When John Smith was captured and would have been killed Pocahontas saved him. Because she was her father's pet she could do that, even though most of the Indians did not like the white men. Pocahontas grew up and married a white man. Then she went far across the ocean to England and saw the Queen.

TEEN TALK

By BARBARA BAILEY

"Dashing through the snow"—and thank goodness we can sing that—thought for a while that it would be another snowless Christmas holidays leaving skiing and skating parties in the realm of dreams.

* * *

Party Puzzles—"Jeepers, here I am with a coral formal and Bob sent red roses." That is a problem; so, fellows, here are some hints on what flowers to send that certain girl for the holiday formals.

Sue Belle Biddle definitely thinks pink camellias are just the thing for her fluffy yellow dress

"Red roses," sighs Jane Manz, "would be simply dreamy with my white formal."

Erma Jenkins confesses that gardenias top her list.

Red and white carnations are strictly on the beam with Gloria Morton whose favorite dress is red and white.

Betty Blake admits that orchids, any shade, are flowers for the dream book. (Editor's note—who doesn't?)

* * *

And for keeping from getting cold feet on dance nights—we're speaking literally—try lining your snug stadium boots with velvet. Looks glamorous too.

* * *

They certainly make pins out of everything these days! Norma Blackstone has the cutest fork an spoon. Just right to put on that sweater you hope to get for Christmas.

* * *

"Say, she must be going steady."

"How do you know?"

"'Cause she's wearing her hair ribbon on the left side, that's how."

Careful girls, those tiny insignificent objects tell tales. If the ribbon is perched on the right side of your head, it means you're just dating. If on the back, your on the loose.

Unit 2, Nu Phi Mu, Reveals 'Secret Sisters'

Miss Patricia Steele, Wayne street, was hostess at a Christmas party held Thursday evening for members of Unit 2 of Nu Phi Mu sorority. White Charges Meader Committee Members With 'Arrant Hypocrisy'

By WALTER WHITE

Senator Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota writes me as follows regarding the release of the Meader Report on Germany by the four Republican members of the senate committee to investigate war expenditures:

"Apparently you did not get the report of our statement giving our reasons for releasing it, and I enclose that statement. The fact is that all of the portions of the report which you find most unsatisfactory have been deliberately sent out to the press, which gave a completely distorted picture of the total. That was why we felt it necessary to release the entire report, because it is my conviction that the preliminary criticisms of the administration so overshadowed the more sensational material in importance."

WHITE

The statement alleges twice that the report was made public because "leaks of confidential committee material have appeared in the press" and "distorted versions of the testimony of executive hearings and of the contents of the confidential report have been published." It is charged that the Democrats alone were responsible for leaks

Let's look at the record. As this column pointed out last week, the meat of Meader's report was included in an article in the Nov. 9 issue of Liberty magazine. The writer was Owen Brewster, Republican senator from Maine Magazines of nationwide circulation go to press at least three weeks in advance of their appearance on newsstands Authors usually must have final manuscripts in the hands of the editor six weeks before publication

Thus Senator Brewster utilized confidential material of the senate committee of uncorroborated charges even before Meader left Washington on Oct 10 to make his preliminary investigation.

THUS IT IS ARRANT HYPOCRISY for the four minority members of the committee to attempt to excuse their release of the uncorroborated charges of Meader by saying that it had leaked to the press. Do they believe that decent Americans who believe in fair play, as well as the minorities who are so shamelessly smeared in the report, are going to swallow such a procedure?

The senate committee itself has totally destroyed the usefulness or value of any investigation which it might now make of the American Military Government in Germany. Nor will credence be given to an investigation of the war department by the war department. What now seems to be imperative is an investigation of the committee itself beginning with Senator Hatley Kilgore, the chairman, George Meader, its chief counsel, and especially of Senator Owen Brewster

It is to be hoped that a bi-partisan bi-racial, non-political and irreproachable committee will be appointed soon to find out and report to the nation just what is going on in Germany.

Such an investigation should include thorough probing of the vicious charges which have been made by Meader against two of the most helpless groups in the world today—Jewish refugees who have gone through the hell of Nazism, and American Negro soldiers at the mercy of army segregation and discrimination. I would like here to present a few cases of the latter which I saw with my own eyes during the war

Meader peddles all the familiar stories about Negro truck drivers having "physical access to army supplies which they could and did use for the purpose of gaining favor with German women" who, in view of the food shortages "have been unusually receptive to the generosity of Negro troops." This is the least sinister of the wholesale smear of colored troops in the report.

The army itself is largely responsible. It insisted on segregating the overwhelming majority of Negroes in quartermaster, trucking and port battalion units. Handling supplies as these units did in areas where the native populations were more often than not starving, situations like the following which I found in a transient camp in the European theater in 1944 were far from uncommon. The sinking of a troopship by a German submarine had cut in half the average number of troops which passed each week through this camp.

THE NEGRO MESS SERgeant told his commanding officer that he was requisitioning for the coming week only half the weekly food supplies. He was peremptorily commanded to order the usual quantity as to do otherwise would cause difficulty in restoring the weekly quota. The sergeant asked his CO what he should do with the supplies on hand which cluttered up the quonset huts. "Take it out and bury it. Get rid of it somehow," was the curt reply.

The sergeant was a softhearted person. It sickened him to destroy food which the emaciated civilian population needed so desperately He placed the surplus food where it could be found by starving adults and children. It is left to you to imagine the gratitude the local population felt towards their benefactor and Negro soldiers generally. But the sergeant was courtmartialed for "disobeying a lawful command of his superior officer."

Resentment among some white American officers and soldiers against association by colored soldiers on any basis whatever with civilians overseas reach such heights that even in countries like the Philippines and North Africa where the native populations were dark skinned, many hosts were forced to stop entertaining colored soldiers. I learned of numerous brawls started in English homes by white American soldiers when they found that Negro American soldiers had also been invited.

Some Americans were totally unable to believe there could be any but a sexual basis for any relations between Negro soldiers and civilians, no matter what the age or sex of the civilian. One aide assigned to me told me quite frankly that he had believed this until I pointed out to him a group of Negro soldiers with an English family returning from church apparently, neither Meader nor any of his sources of information ever saw any episodes like that one

* * *

IT IS NOT CLAIMED IN THE least that all relations overseas between Negro soldiers and females have been platonic. But these relations and the undoubtedly higher venereal disease rate among Negro troops has also partial explanation in the racial prejudices of some American whites.

Here is an illustration. A Negro college graduate told me in England in 1943 that when his outfit first arrived overseas, the men had been invited to English homes and churches where they had enjoyed healthy, clean friendships. But so many embarrassing situations had been created by white Americans, their hosts had regretfully ceased to invite colored soldiers any more

"Soldiers get awfully tired of camp, especially when they do nothing all day but build airfields out of muddy holes like this one," the Negro said sadly. "We are lonely for our families and want to talk with somebody other than soldiers But now the only civilians we can talk to are the women you pick up in pubs I've got a wife and two children back home. I'm not going to run around with tramps I didn't do that back home and I'm not going to do it over here no matter how lonely I get. So I just stay in camp and read"

Not all Negro soldiers—and not all white ones—were willing to pay that price for companionship. But Meader and his informants appear able to see nothing good about any Negro soldier—only the worst. He seems to reserve all his Anglo-Saxon sympathy for the women of America's late enemy and to have none left for soldiers who fought to preserve a United States in which a man like Meader can run for congress.

He seems unconcerned with America's responsibility for whatever derelictions of which Negro troops may be guilty—such as that most of them were born and raised in Bilboland where social hygiene facilities and instructions are scarce for whites and virtually non-existent for Negroes. Instead Meader is willing, even eager, to smear Negroes and to spread unverified tales which can only play directly into the hands of the Ku Klux Klan.

Rabbit season officially closes Jan. 1, and the game wardens have warned hunters that they shouldn't try to get those extra couple days in.

FOUR FOUND DEAD IN RESORT CABIN

MICHIGAN CITY —(AP)— Four members of a family were found beaten and stabbed to death yesterday in a cottage at Long Beach, a swank resort area three miles east of here.

Coroner Russell Beck said it appeared to be murder and suicide.

The victims were: John E. Courtright, in his early 30's, believed to be an author and artist, whose body was found in the bathroom with the wrists slashed; Mrs. Lucy Jane Courtright, 34, his wife; Jan Albert Courtright, 6, and Kathy Lynn Courtright, 4, their children

Long Beach Town Marshal T. T. Rairden said the mother and the son suffered wounds across the head and the boy had a round stab wound in the chest.

CAR CARAVAN WILL FOLLOW YOUNG'S PATH

Utah Residents Make Trek to Publicize Centennial.

SALT LAKE CITY —(AP)— A caravan of 43 canvas-topped motor cars next summer will begin a trek that will take 143 men, three women and two children half way across the United States.

The journey, from Illinois to Utah, will be one of the 69 major events which Utah residents believe will attract the attention of the nation here as the beehive state observes its centennial with a full year of celebration beginning this week.

Starting at Nauvoo, Ill., July 14, the automobiles will journey 1,500 miles to Salt Lake City, following as closely as possible the route of Brigham Young and the first band of mormon pioneers just one hundred years before.

Each night the 1947 "covered wagons" will draw up in a circle at the site of one of the camping spots where in 1847 the original 143 men, three women and two children sought shelter around cooking fires and protection from Indians. The evening meal of antelope, venison or buffalo will be prepared and eaten, and later there will be stories, singing and dancing.

The Utah centennial promises to be noteworthy and its sponsors hope to make it unique by having everybody join in the work as well as the fun.

"We expect to have perhaps 90 percent of Utah's population actively participating in the centennial in one way or another," says Gus P. Backman, executive director of the state centennial commission.

"We want the country to be adequately informed of our history and our growth, and to be advised to expect Utah to emerge as a new western industrial giant within the next decade," Backman explains.

"But just as determinedly we want our own people to enjoy the occasion and to be able to recall in years to come the centennial as a time when there was a big neighborhood party going on all the time."

Simpson News Notes

Simpson's chapter of Junior Red Cross, under the supervision of Miss Helen Lorow, reports a membership of approximately 500 which is 75 per cent of the student body. The chapter uses its dues to buy articles for gift boxes which are sent each year to foreign lands. About $35 have been received this year, more than ever before collected by the chapter.

Roberta Lozier, Patty Beech, Alice Eberhardt, Bernice Sheets, Patty Smith and Caroline McCready help at the Red Cross chapter house in filling gift boxes. They have filled 100 boxes.

* * *

Simpson students met for their annual Christmas assembly Friday in the auditorium. Christmas carols and popular songs were featured. Boy's and girl's glee clubs from the seventh, eighth and ninth grade sang. Frank Daniels, member of the seventh grade boys' glee club, sang a solo, "Away in a Manger," by Martin Luther. A mixed quartet composed of Carolee Hunter, Ann Wallace, Clarence Mason, and Charles Green sang two numbers. The entire program was under the direction of A. L. Derr, Mrs. Virginia Allen and Miss Fannie Lou Eiler.

* * *

Three boys and one girl won top honors in the close race for class officers when the ninth grade voted November 25. Ed Demyon was elected president, Jim Haring vice president, Jean Sinerson, secretary, and Jim Miller, treasurer. Edwin C. Cooper was chosen as class advisor.

Sadie Hawkins Snow Chase dance was held by the girl's choir Friday night. Dick Buts and his Rhythmairs furnished the music. The committee was Anne Farry, Virginia Bowie, Milka George, Colleen Koppert, Ruth Wagner and Audrey Pirrgo.

Citizens' Forum

What Do You Want For Christmas?

(This week's forum conducted by News-Journal Photographer-Reporter Art Anderson.)

MRS D. B. ZELENKA, 128 Washington avenue; "I would like most to have an apartment for Christmas. Even a small apartment of two or three rooms would be wonderful. My husband and I have been looking for an apartment or a small house since last February. It would certainly be a happy Christmas if we could have that wish."

Mrs. Zelenka

GEORGE HARRIS, 210 South Water street: "To be perfectly honest with you, we just recently had a baby boy, so if I could have my choice of anything, all I would ask for is for him to be healthy. I always like to see snow at Christmas time, so if we could have a snow that would make the picture complete."

Harris

JERRY MAXWELL, 174 West Second street: "That's easy. If I could have my choice I would like a new 45 cubic inch Harley Davidson motorcycle. I have a motor bike, but it doesn't have enough power. I would like something heavier, bigger and with more power for the hills around here. I have been saving my money to get one but it would be nice if I could have it for Christmas."

Maxwell

MRS. JAMES McNEW, 349 Ohio street: "I don't have to study long to answer that. We have been looking for an apartment or a house since a year ago last September. Now we have a baby girl 11 months old, so if I could have my choice of anything I'd ask for an apartment. Even three rooms would be all right. If you could just make that come true it would be the most wonderful present we could have."

Mrs. McNew

D. L. RIMMER, 259 South Mulberry street: "I would like to have another trip like I had the first of the month. There is only one way that I would qualify that—I think I'd rather have that for next Christmas than this year. I was deer hunting in Pennsylvania and if you wonder why I would like to have another trip like it, just take a look at these photographs. That's an 8-point, 200 pound buck. Here, this picture of him hanging-up, with me standing beside him, shows how big he really was. I had a wonderful trip."

Rimmer

MISS SHIRLEY HARTNETT, 47 Glessner avenue: "More than anything else I would like to have an electric phonograph, with a record changer. I would like lots of albums filled with popular pieces, especially I would want those by Vaughn Monroe included. I am also fond of Straus waltzes. Then I would like to play and listen to them by the hour."

Miss Hartnett

PIERRE, S. D.—(AP)—The U. S. treasury with a 270 billion dollar deficit has been enriched $1 annually for nine years, through the deadletter office, thanks to an anonymous Santa Claus who addresses his gift to "The Wretched Poor, Pierre, S. D."

Postmaster R. Y. Bagby has urged the benevolent soul, who mails his donation from Onida, S. D., to send it to some charity since there is no person legally known as "The Wretched Poor," in Pierre.

BILBO WITNESS FACING CHARGE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Attorneys for the senate war investigating committee said yesterday they have asked for authority to file contempt charges against Edward P. Terry, former secretary of Senator Bilbo (D-Miss).

The action is based on Terry's refusal to tell the committee what became of $15,000 which he said a New Yorker gave him to use against Bilbo in the Mississippi election this year.

Committee counsel must obtain permission of President Pro Tem McKellar (D-Tenn) and then pass the contempt complaint along to the federal district attorney here for presentation to a grand jury.

Penalties for contempt of the senate range up to a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Chairman Mead (D-NY) directed George Meader, counsel for the committee, also to push a perjury charge against Terry.

American Bar Association Charges 'Discrimination' In Army Courts

OFFICERS GET 'BETTER BREAK' REPORT CLAIMS

Committee Cites Condition As Seriously Impairing GI Morale.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An American Bar association committee reported last night the charge of discrimination in army courts martial as between officers and GIs was true in some cases and "seriously impaired" morale.

The committee, appointed by Secretary of War Patterson, also found that "sentences originally imposed were frequently excessive and sometimes fantastically so."

To overcome these and five other criticisms of the court martial system which the committee held "well founded" it recommended that:

1 "Qualified enlisted men" be permitted to sit on courts trying GIs, and enlisted men be "encouraged to attend." The Doolittle board similarly recommended that sergeants should sit on courts martial.

2 The new members on each court and the defense counsel be members of the judge advocate general's department and be appointed by it instead of by the commander who orders the trial, as at present. The commander would continue to name the trial judge advocate.

3. It be made unlawful for commanders or others to try to influence the action of an appointing or reviewing authority in connection with courts martial, or to reprimand a court or its members.

4. The judge advocate general's department be enlarged and trained lawyers be provided for court martial duty. The committee noted that "frequently officers with no legal training were used as law members, trial judge advocates, or defense counsel, even though there were available a sufficient number of competent men in the army for all the courts."

5. A board of officers be named to make a continuous study of changes in the Articles of War and courts martial procedure.

It cited "seven frequent criticisms" which it heard and concluded they "are well founded and reflect actual breakdowns in the operation" of the court martial system:

1. "There was an absence of sufficient attention to and emphasis upon the military justice system, and lack of preliminary planning for it."

2. "There was a serious deficiency of sufficiently qualified and trained men to act as members of the court or as officers of the court."

3. "The command frequently dominated the courts in the rendition of their judgment."

4. "Defense counsel were often ineffective because of (a) lack of experience and knowledge, or (b) lack of a vigorous defense attitude."

5. "The sentences originally imposed were frequently excessively severe and sometimes fantastically so."

6. "There was some discrimination between officers and enlisted men, both as to the bringing of charges and as to convictions and sentences."

7. "Investigations, before referring cases to trial, were frequently inefficient or inadequate."

GETS HIS CHECK—James Bly, left, a foreman at the Gorman-Rupp plant, was among the 110 employes who received company profit-sharing checks at the firm's Christmas party Thursday night in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Handing him the check is J. C. Gorman, president of the company. Seated in the background are H. E. Rupp, company vice president and secretary, and Msgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church. WHEAT FUTURES STILL SLIPPING

CHICAGO—(AP)—Mills bought wheat futures yesterday following overnight sales of a fair quantity of the bread cereal to Mexico, but this support was unable to stem the decline which started with the agriculture department's announcement that a record-breaking winter wheat crop was indicated.

Wheat was down around a cent most of the session. Corn and oats were off small fractions. Both feed grains were adversely affected by indications that the increase in the spring pig crop will not be as large as desired. There was a good shipping demand for corn, sales totaling 250,000 bushels.

December oats, in which trading ended at the close, finished on a split quotation, 83½-81. This was ⅝-⅜ under yesterday's finish. Wheat finished ½ lower to 1 cent higher, Jan. $2.11, corn was ⅝ lower to ⅜ higher, Jan. 1.32-1.32⅛. Deferred oats contracts were ¼-⅝ higher.

TAYLOR HEADS TRIPLE-A AGAIN

Guy L. Taylor of near Bellville, began his 14th year as chairman of the Richland county Triple-A committee yesterday when he was re-elected to that post at the association's annual county convention.

Other members re-elected to the county committee were Raymond Landis, of Butler township, vice chairman, and Warren Epstein, of Sandusky township, third member.

Taylor said results of township committee elections were still being tabulated last night. A final count should be completed early this week, he said.

The chairman said bad weather kept to 12 the number of delegates who attended the convention in the association's offices on North Diamond street.

Britain Seeks Coal For Plant

LONDON —(AP)—Government officials hurriedly scratched Britain's coal bins Saturday for supplies, following an announcement by the Austin Motor Car Co., that it would be forced to close Tuesday because of the fuel shortage.

Hugh Gaitskell, undersecretary of the fuel ministry, said that Britain's export trade would suffer a serious blow if the plant closed Tuesday. He pointed out that the factory produces more than 1,000 cars a week, half of which are earmarked for export.

BLUM SEEKING CUT IN FRENCH MILITARY COST

Prime Minister Hits Army With Economy Drive.

PARIS —(AP)— Despite France's pride in being considered one of the four big nations of the world in meetings of foreign ministers of the powers, her armed strength may be cut to that of a second or even third rate nation in Premier Leon Blum's economy campaign.

With the Siegfried and Maginot lines a thing of the past and German coastal defenses dynamited all the way from Oslo to Bordeaux, the French army of 650,000 men — including gendarmes, marines and air force now stands second in size to Yugoslavia on the European continent, Russia excepted.

According to reliable estimates of intelligence sources, Yugoslav today is the toughest little country in Europe with an army of 800,000 men.

Present economy plans call for reducing the French army to about 300,000 men, comparable to the estimated size of Generalissimo Franco's Spanish forces and about equal to the army which either Belgium or the Netherlands could muster on the north.

This issue over the armed forces was what made it impossible for Socialist Premier Blum to form his intended coalition government last week. The two most powerful parties in France, the Communists and Georges Bidault's MRP, were unable to agree on who should have the ministry of defense.

The Communists refused to take part in a Blum government unless they were given the defense post, and the MRP refused to consent to this, charging that the Communists intended to "undermine" the French army by loading it with a "fifth column."

So Blum was obliged to bring in a minority government composed entirely of Socialists pledged to unpopular economic cuts. They plan to start saving money by discharging government employes, not excludng soldiers.

VETERANS BOSS THEMSELVES

Partners In War, Brothers Now Operate Business Firm Together

By AL PREYER

Partners in war and partners in peace is the motto of brothers Charles and Joe Seifert, this week's "veterans in business for themselves."

Cooperating on land and sea for two and a half years in the Pacific theater as members of the army and navy, respectively, the present proprietors of the Clownie Products company, 152 Michigan avenue, decided to "carry on together when it was all over if they both got back."

They both made it and are now engaged in manufacturing and marketing, through retail dealers, an educational child's bathroom fixture that teaches personal cleanliness through clowning.

"Clownie" is a plastic wall fixture in the form of a clown's face and hands. In one hand he holds a sanitary drinking cup and in the other two toothbrushes. To his sleeve is attached the toothpaste, and on top his funny hat is a comb. The biggest feature about "Clownie"—the one the children love—is that his mouth is movable. He's a happy, smiling clown when children are clean and he frowns sadly when they are untidy.

"The name of the company is adopted from the product which at present is the sole item produced," Joe said. "We hope to expand to other lines of production soon, however."

Both men are native Mansfielders and married. Joe has a child. "I suppose that accounts for the interest in 'Clownie'," he explained. Joe is 28 and Charles 36.

"Being alike in so many ways," Joe said, "our hobbies are pretty much the same—sports of all kinds with a preference for hunting and bowling."

5 Still Missing In Boat Accident

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. —(AP)— The coastguard planned yesterday to send divers on an underwater search of two sunken tugs in an effort to find the bodies of five crew members missing since the vessels crashed into a jetty and sank near the mouth of the St. Johns river.

One body, as yet unidentified, was recovered Friday and a seventh member of the crew was rescued. The sole survivor, Luther Brown, Durham, N. C., remained in the coastguard dispensary at Mayport undergoing treatment for exposure and shock.

POTTERY PLANT TOP INDUSTRY IN PERRYSVILLE

Once Just a 'Crossroads', Town Now Boasts Gas Storage, Factory.

"It was the worst train wreck we've ever had near Perrysville. In fact, it's about the worst disaster of any kind in or near our town. Even the floods have been minor compared to that."

That is what J. C. "Cal" Kershner, 73, one of Perrysville's old timers says of the Pennsylvania railroad accident near there on Friday, Dec. 13.

Kreshner should know. He came to Perrysville when he was four years old with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kershner and has lived there ever since. He remembers when the village was just a cross-roads spot between Mansfield and Loudonville, with probably 200 residents.

* * *

HE GREW UP THERE, HELPing his father in the carpentry and contracting business. Twenty years ago he entered the timber business, buying up woods tracts and converting them into timber at his sawmill at the edge of town.

While Perrysville has not grown appreciably since the time Kershner came there 69 years ago, it does boast of an industry that many a large city would be proud to claim.

That is the Mansfield Pottery, Inc., makers of vitreous china plumbing fixtures, brass valves and fittings. It is a modern, well-planned factory. W. J. Drouhard is president and manager.

"We incorporated in 1933," he said, "recalling the factory history," and at the present time, we have 125 employes. Our products are made of the same ingredients as fine china, only they are mixed in a different way. At the present time, we have an output of about 100,000 pieces each year."

Lewis W. Truman, 72, oldest employe of the company, is another of Perrysville's old-timers.

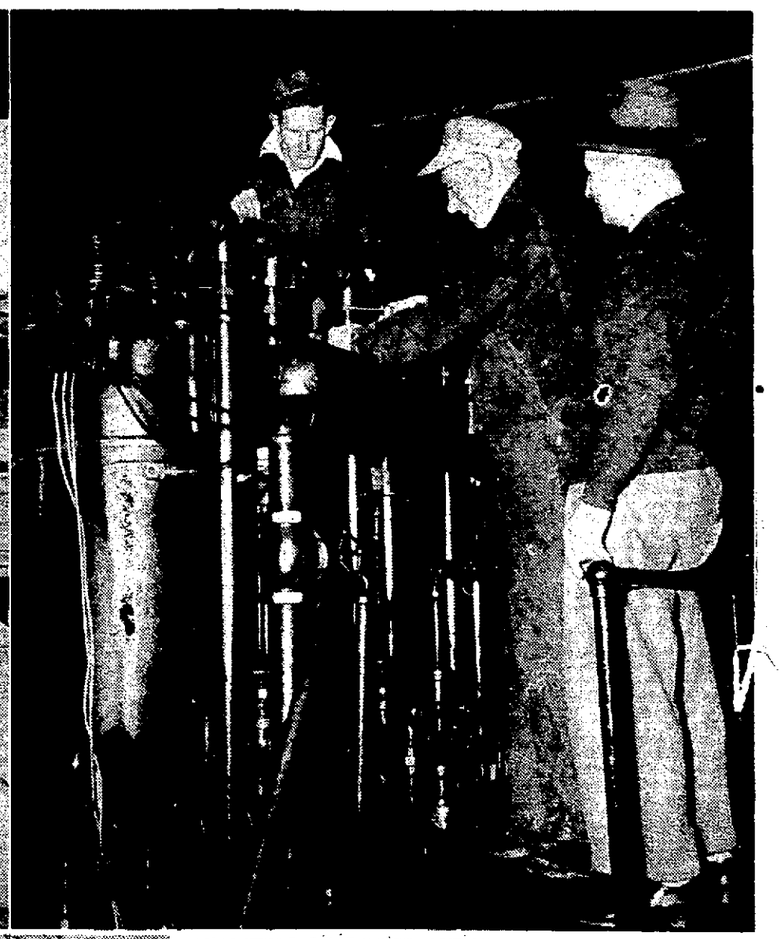
* * *

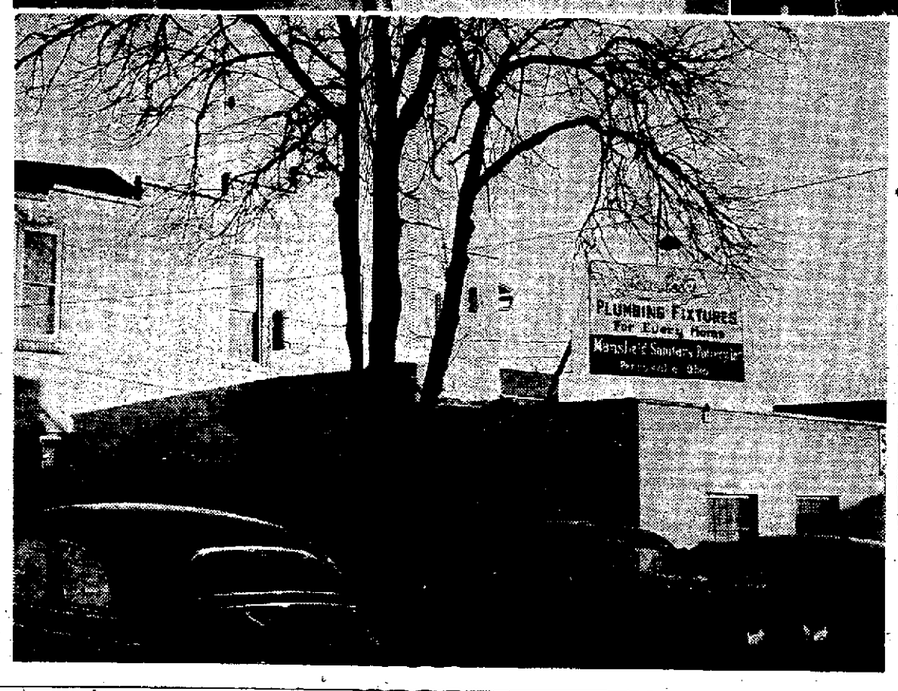
HE CAME AS A BOY TO THE village in 1881 and owned a bakery shop for many years. Truman joined the personnel of the Pottery company in 1933 and is still on the job every day.

Another business concern in Perrysville which provided employment for a number of men is the Ohio Fuel company's storage plant, where gas is stored during the winter for summer use.

The pottery business gave the small town a decided civic boost and it is expected that the dam lake areas, when completed, will give it another. At least that's what Glen Welch, proprietor of Glen's Restaurant, thinks. Welch a World War II veteran from Canton came to Perrysville after his discharge.

"I don't have much business now," he says, "but wait until summer. Then I expect it to boom."





PERRYSVILLE LOOKS AHEAD—Given a civic boost when the Mansfield Pottery, Inc., opened its doors for business in 1933, Perrysville looks ahead to even greater prosperity when the nearby dam lake areas are completed. Top left is Lewis W. Truman, 72, oldest employe of the company. Top right are employes of the Ohio Fuel Gas company's storage tank, Dow King, Fred Hesson, engineer, and H. M. Ackerman of Ashland, chief engineer. Bottom is the pottery plant.

Appleseed News Notes

Vocal music groups presented the Christmas assembly Friday afternoon. Several numbers were given by the seventh grade chorus of about 90 voices under the direction of Miss Kathryn Spreng, followed by a selection by the eighth grade girl's glee club under the direction of Miss Ellena Percy.

After numbers sung by the combined eighth and ninth grade girl's glee clubs, the 58 members of the ninth grade club offered some selections.

The program was concluded by the singing of the ninth grade boy's glee club who marched in from the back of the auditorium. Carolers from the Mansfield Senior high and a trio from the Mansfield Senior high school choir, with Bob Frere, soloist, assisted with the program, under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr.

A large, lighted Christmas tree in the center of the gym, was the principal decoration at a dance sponsored by the Leaders Thursday noon. Admission was by contribution of food or payment of 15 cents. So much food was collected that the Leaders were able to give two large Christmas boxes to each of six families. With $28 collected, butter, bacon, chicken, and cookies were purchased to add to the baskets. Girls of the Leaders club brought gifts to give to the children of the families receiving the baskets.

In the girl's intramural volley ball tournaments, the eighth grade championship was won by "Kilroy's team from 213," Miss Helen Widder's homeroom. Seventh grade championship was won by the "Penguins," of Miss Kathryn Spreng's homeroom. Games to determine the ninth grade champion and the all-star games will be played after the Christmas vacation.

SANDUSKY —(AP)— Residents of Kelleys Island, without telephone or telegraph facilities to the mainland for nearly a week, today awaited the patching of a cable by repair crews.

County Receives $15,220 From Stat

Richland county Saturday had received from the state auditor $15,200 in gasoline excise tax receipts which totaled $1,238,400 throughout the state.

Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said that $8,000 of it will be used for road purposes by the county and the remainder will be distributed on the basis of $400 to each township, also for road purposes, within the next few days. It is the last such distribution this year.

VETERAN 'FIXERS'—Maurice Oyen, left, and John Woyton rush a repair and paint job on a scooter to make sure it gets in Santa's pack for Christmas. The two are helped by six other World War II veterans on the Christmas toy project at the Volunteers of America, which has brought in several hundred toys from Mansfielders for distribution to children of the city's unfortunate families. Approximately a thousand toys have been distributed so far this season. (News-Journal staff photo by Bill Graham)

Thanks To 'Volunteers' Many Families Will Enjoy Yuletide

By MARGUERITE MILLER

There'll be dinners in the oven and toys under the tree Wednesday in scores of Mansfield homes where Christmas otherwise would have amounted to little more than another day in the week.

Responsible for adding the "merry" significance to the holiday will be the Volunteers of America who might be called "the year-round Santa Claus."

Over 50 cases of staple foodstuffs, 18 bushels of potatoes, more than 200 loaves of bread and other food will be distributed in 70 Christmas baskets 3 p. m. Tuesday at the North Main street headquarters

TO ROUND OUT THE HOLIday spirit some 500 toys were given out at 6 p. m Friday, bringing the total of toys to 1,057 distributed this season

Attesting to the excellent cooperation on toy collections from local organizations this year are the several hundred turned in by Mansfielders at the recent used toy drive at the Mansfield Public Library and the toy gift of Cub Pack 7. The library drive was carried on as a children's project under the direction of Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian.

"Neither toys nor baskets are given to the children," Adj R L Gutterman, director of the Volunteers, said. "The donations go only to the parents, so that they can maintain their rightful prestige in their families.

"No matter how kind people want to be, their acts of giving food or toys in front of children mar the role of the bread winner of the family and give the children a sense of insecurity. They feel most keenly the charity significance."

THIS CHRISTMAS, GUTTERman continued, eight World War II veterans have taken over the repair work on the donated toys. Most of these veterans have also taken part in the year-round program of the volunteers, who "specialize" in emergency relief work among burned-out families and those hard-pressed by illness or unemployment.

Up until Dec. 15 of this year the Volunteers of America have given shelter to 2,298 transients; meals to 4,238; shower baths to 1,016; new shoes to 73 persons, garments to 10,631; furnished 68 pieces of furniture; grocery orders to 22 families, taken in three evicted families, paid rent for five families, and given out 75 comforts Adj Gutterman has also officiated at four funerals

Motor Firm's Safe Resists Burglars

Police Saturday were investigating an attempted safe cracking at the Auxter Motor sales on Park avenue west Friday night.

Nothing was reported missing, but the hinges on the safe had been burned through with a torch and the cash register had been rifled.

Entrance was gained by breaking a glass in a side door, police said.

Navy Man AWOL Sought by Police

Apprehension of Pvt. Frank W. Novak, 21, of 121 East Dickson avenue, reported as absent without leave since Dec. 15 from Ft. McClellan, Ala., was requested of the Mansfield police Saturday by M/Sgt. Daniel DeSalvo, Mansfield army recruiting station commander.

Novak had enlisted in the army in November after having served with the Navy during the recent war, DeSalvo said.

Shelby Veterans Salvage Materials From Old Barn to Build Homes

GET SEASONED LUMBER FROM OLD BUILDING

Quentin Pitcher, Woodrow Racer Also Buy Sawmill to Cut Lumber.

By NITA BRANSON

There are all sorts of ways to build a house.

Some folks get in touch with a contractor and tell him what they want. Others employ an architect and go in for elaborate construction. Then again there are men who just go down to the lumber yard, order so many feet of lumber and put up their own homes.

But Quentin Pitcher and Woodrow Racer, World War II veterans of Shelby, are doing none of these things.

Pitcher and Racer found a barn. But this was a particular type of barn over 100 years old. It was constructed of huge logs and Pitcher thinks they'll get about 12,000 feet of lumber out of them.

What do they plan to do with the logs after they've been torn down from the barn? Let Pitcher tell the story.

"Racer and I bought a saw mill three miles north of Shelby," he said. "We'll take our logs there and saw them into proper lengths for building homes."

* * *

THE HOMES PLANNED BY Pitcher and Racer will include a five room modern home in Shelby for Pitcher and his family, and a six room modern farm home for Edgar Racer at his farm near Shenandoah.

The old barn, aside from age, is an interesting one of the kind of sturdy construction built in the early 19th century. Its big logs were chinked or notched together to make a 54 by 70 frame.

There is little hardware on the entire structure. Even the door bolts and hinges are wooden and the springs on the doors are thin wooden slats. There is still hanging from one high beam to the floor a wooden ladder up which farmers of years past crawled to the haymow.

"Here's something interesting. I want you to see," said Mrs. Edgar Racer who had gone along up the long country lane to the old barn site. She walked over to the pile of siding which the two men had already taken off the framework of the barn and pointed to several of the boards.

"Here is the way carpenters used to mark their pieces of lumber," she said, indicating Roman numerals on several of the siding pieces. One said VIII and another X.

* * *

"THEY USED TO MARK their lumber like this so that a green carpenter wouldn't get mixed up," she explained.

It has been years since cattle stood contentedly in its warm stalls or munched corn and hay from its deep, wooden feeding troughs, yet there is still the rotted straw bedding where they slept warmly through cold, primitive Ohio winters. Woodchucks and other small farm animals have burrowed deeply underneath the huge foundation logs.

Jud Cline, an old-timer near Shenandoah, remembers when the John Hisey family lived at the farm.

"They left about 15 or 20 years ago," Cline said, "and they lived there for at least 50 or 60 years. But the barn was there when they bought the place, so it must be at least one hundred years old. It was made from the hard woods of this territory-walnut, oak, and other woods from the Ohio forest."

It may be the hard way to build a house, but when Pitcher and Racer get through, they know there will be no flimsy lumber in the construction of the two new homes and that the sturdy reminders of Ohio's once virgin forest, will continue to serve in warmly constructed homes for many years to come.

Bill of Rights Aid Spotty, Says VFW Legislative Head

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Omar B. Ketchum of the Veterans of Foreign Wars estimated last night that taxpayers will put out $20,000,000,000 or more under the G.I. Bill of Rights and less than half of the World War II veterans will get any substantial benefit.

The VFW legislative director gave the figures in an article in the January issue of the VFW National News as an argument for a federal bonus to veterans.

Ketchum projected his cost estimate over the life of the G.I. bill's various benefits, on the basis of Veterans administration figures on the outlay up to Oct. 31, 1946.

He got actual cost figures for only three sections of the law, those providing educational aid, loans, and unemployment allowances, and arrived at a partial total of $2,761,766,83 in direct benefits to veterans and estimated administrative costs within VA. He noted there are other big items, difficult to estimate, representing the outlays of such agencies as the treasury and the general accounting office.

Ketchum reported these figures on direct benefits to veterans up to Oct. 31: education (subsistence, tuition and such) $946,391,521; loan guaranty $38,00,838; unemployment allowances $1,679,123,056.

The VFW official estimated 2,500,000 veterans are receiving, or have received, benefits under the education section of the act, about 6,500,000 have had unemployment allowances and 500,000 have received loan benefits.

He figured that over the years about 5,000,000 will get substantial aid under the education provisions, 1,500,000 under the loan title, and the unemployment allowances will depend on economic conditions.

There will be numerous duplications with thousands receiving benefits under all three sections, Ketchum said.

On that basis, he added, "it is estimated that less than 7,000,000 World War II veterans will receive substantial benefits under the G.I. act before its provisions expire."

He contended that there should be something for veterans "who by reason of economic conditions, family circumstances, and age, are unable to take advantage of the G.I. act benefits."

Stassen's Announced Candidacy May Aid Ohio Presidential Aspirants

EXPERTS SEE ALLIANCE TO AID BRICKER

Writer Recalls Minnesota Delegation Cool to Dewey In 1944.

By H. H. DAUGHERTY

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Harold E. Stassen's announced candidacy for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination may aid the presidential aspirations of Ohio's potential candidates, U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft and Senator-elect John W. Bricker.

Friends of Bricker recalled it was the Minnesota delegation at the 1944 Chicago convention that furnished the most formidable backing for the then Ohio governor in his effort to stop New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The Minnesota delegation was pledged to Stassen, but after it became apparent that he was out of the running Governor Edward Thye of Minnesota lost no time in the delegations support to Bricker.

Governor Thye, now a U. S. senator-elect, strongly counseled against Governor Bricker withdrawing from the presidential race accepting the vice presidential nomination. He insisted the Bricker-Stassen forces carry the fight against Dewey to the convention floor.

Whether Bricker and his friends will consider the Stassen-Bricker alliance at Chicago in 1944 just "one of those things" in 1948 and without any binding moral obligation on the part of Ohio in the approaching presidential contest is yet to be unfolded.

Some political observers see in that 1944 alliance a possible nucleus for another stop Dewey movement in 1948, if such should become necessary to keep the New York governor from again getting the nomination tucked in his hip pocket before the national convention balloting starts.

But all this possible Bricker-Stassen alliance is predicted on a free Ohio field for Bricker, which by no means is true at this time because of the presidential aspirations of Senator Taft, yet to be formally announced. Of course both Taft and Bricker would cherish the support of the Ohio delegation and must have it to get any convention votes, but whether Taft would be a party to a stop Dewey movement also is conjecture.

It appears evident that one of the first things to be decided by Ohio political leaders is how the Ohio delegation is to be handled with respect to Taft and Bricker. It appears doubtful if either will be given the delegation sealed and certified.

A Taft-Bricker fight may develop for control of the delegation.

One of the best bets right now in the confused Ohio political situation is that Governor-elect Thomas J. Herbert will be chosen as Ohio's favorite son for the purpose of qualifying the delegation. Herbert of course will not be considered a formal candidate for president but would hold a position to swing the delegation either to Taft or Bricker. Such a bet may not be worth a plugged nickel by next Groundhog day.

WINDY CITY ROUGH ON OHIO AGENTS

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Maxwell Landis, a Chicago attorney, said he will at once seek fugitive warrants Monday against two Ohio liquor enforcement agents who left Illinois shortly before police tried to serve them with charges of carrying concealed weapons and using fictitious automobile license plates.

The agents—Edmund Schuster of Perrysburg and Harry Van Dine of Shadyside—were stationed in Chicago to spot liquor shipments suspected of entering Ohio without the required state license.

Their arrest Thursday on a complaint and detention at a police station for five hours was described by Harlan T. Chapman, state enforcement chief, as "the biggest organized attempt to keep us from stopping this traffic that we've seen yet."

CITING THE FACT THAT TB is not "inherited," Mrs. Adams emphasized the need for quick discovery of the disease in a person if it is to be satisfactorily combatted.

"Babies are not born with tuberculosis. Disease does not run in the blood of a family. Tuberculosis is caused by a germ which gets out of the body of some one who has it and into healthy bodies —especially those of children," she warned.

"That is why complete and constant examinations are necessary to fight the disease once it is discovered in a family or a particular group," she said.

Police yesterday were continuing an investigation into the theft of a bottle of champagne and a bottle of sherry taken from the Ohio State Liquor store on Washington square.

Entrance was gained by removing a pane of glass from a rear window, police said.

Although the store contained thousands of bottles of various other types of liquors, nothing else was disturbed.

Willard's Seven Jump Brothers To Enjoy Christmas Eve Reunion

By MRS. HARRISON WOLFE
N-J State Correspondent

WILLARD — The seven Jump brothers of Willard Tuesday will enjoy their first Christmas eve reunion in five years.

Divided during the war years because three of the brothers were in the armed forces, the fraternal group will resume their traditional gathering this week.

The seven brothers, of whom all but one is in business in or near willard, are Maxwell, 42; Robert, 41; Richard, 36; Harry, 32; William, 29; Walter, 26, and James, 23.

James, the youngest, now is a student at Ohio State university, but he expects to associate in business with his brother Robert as soon as he graduates from OSU.

Maxwell is the owner of Jump's Clothing store of Willard, and Richard and Walter are employed in the same store Harry operates the Jump Insurance agency of Willard. Robert owns the Willard Variety store.

The only brother of the lot not in Willard is William, who is the manager of Jump's Clothing store in nearby Plymouth.

With the exception of Maxwell, the eldest brother, all are married When asked to explain the reason for his bachelorhood, he said:

"Well, I guess I've been kept too busy 'fathering' the boys to have time for matrimony."

All look forward to the night-before-Christmas event. They will gather at the home of their mother, Mrs. Lulu Jump.

Following a turkey dinner with "all the trimmings," the brothers and the remainder of the family will exchange gifts. Because of the large family, this takes several hours.

In all, the family consists of Mrs. Jump, the mother; seven brothers and six wives; a sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Barnes, of Cleveland, and nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Jump's husband died in 1930. Another daughter, Mrs. Harriet Leininger, died in 1933, and Mrs. Jump has raised her grandson, Donald Leininger, jr.

Family Is 'Wonderful.'

The seven brothers agree that a large family is "wonderful," and despite the wide range of years between them— the youngest, James, is nearly 20 years younger than Maxwell, who is 42—they assert the family always has been close-knit and comradely.

The Jump family has been lifelong residents of Willard, and all the brothers and sisters were born in Willard or nearby communities.

$350 OFFERED TO TEACHERS

BUCYRUS—In response to a unanimous request from Bucyrus school teachers for increased salaries, Bucyrus school board in a special meeting Wednesday agreed to a $350 annual increase to all teachers. The proposed increase will be presented to the city teachers association for its consideration.

Teachers were given a $250 "cost of living" increase at the start of this school year, which would mean a boost of $600 for the year for all teachers in both elementary and high school departments if the proposal is accepted.

Schools are expected to receive $46,000 to $48,000 from the state foundation program, $21,000 of which would be available for salaries, the board advised. Improvements and other increased costs of operation will absorb the remainder of the foundation money.

The board will convene again December 27, when the teachers association is expected either to reject or accept the increased salary rate.

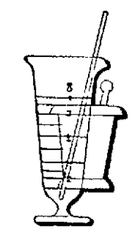
BETTER HEALTH FOR BETTER LIVING



● The last three decades have brought many changes in matters pertaining to health. The normal span of life has been increased materially. Consider diabetes, for example. Diabetes was first recognized about the time of Moses, or 200 years before the birth of King Tut. Yet, it was not until 1922 that a specific remedy was discovered. Today, through the use of Insulin and a balanced diet, the diabetic can reasonably expect to live about as long as anybody. Your physician will promptly recognize the symptoms of diabetes. He knows all about the treatment. And remember this, all advertised cures for diabetes are questionable. Don't be victimized by the swindlers.

AUCTION SALE—At a farm auction sale, typical of many in the Mansfield area, critical eyes, top, left, watch the movements of a big Percheron mare as she is walked among the bidders. Thirty years ago she would have sold for probably three times the high bid of $65. Crowding around a ladder wagon, top center, bidders listen to C. O. Robinson talk-up the sale of a fork, while his son, Neil, acting as clerk for the moment, waves toward a bidder that he thinks may have escaped his father's roving eye. Standing near the far end of the wagon piled high with many small items of farm equipment is Richard Hunt, who took his turn as clerk from time to time during the day's sale. In front of the sliding doors on one of the bank barns of the farm, D. A. Flenner, of Lucas, his wife and Cynthia, one of his three children, top right, pose for a News-Journal cameraman shortly after his high bid of $11,600 had made him the owner of rolling 110-acre farm in Washington township. Flenner will move onto the farm as soon as the former owner, Robert R. Hammett, is able to give possession. Auctioneer C. O. Robinson, holding his cane, lower left, calls for bids on a green hay loader, while Neil smiles over his shoulder and Hammett, hand in pocket, looks as though he hates to see it go. Vigorous talking by Robinson failed to raise a bid that approached the price of a new loader. Robert Butterbaugh, Lucas, R. D. 1, leans on a small grain drill, lower center, which he has just bought, as the crowd moves on following the auctioneers to other farm tools. Butterbaugh, a navy veteran, of World War II got the drill on his bid of $50. Another young Richland county farmer and veteran of World War II, Everett Donough, Mansfield, R. D. 5, lower right, holds three forks he has just bought while C. O. Robinson endeavors to sell another hay fork from the wagon.

The Auctioneer's Voice Booms Out - - And the Sale Is On!

By ART ANDERSON

"Hi! everybody RIGHT this way. We're gonna sell these milk cans to the highest bidder," rolled the booming voice of the auctioneer.

The auctioneer was C. O. Robinson who through 73 can still keep up a good line of chatter and maintain a strong voice after long hours of "crying" a sale.

Robinson, who has been in the auction business for 57 years, says he has "cried" more sales than he can remember. His son Neil, has been in the business for 15 years and is also a popular auctioneer in the Mansfield area.

LAST YEAR THIS FATHER and son team "cried" 112 auction sales and have topped that figure with 140 sales thus far this year. One of their recent sales was a typical farm auction at the Robert R. Hammett farm several miles south of Mansfield in Washington township.

Even though it was a nice day the crowd was slow in arriving and the auctioneers waited one-and-a-half hours after the announced starting time to open the sale.

This gave the Ladies Aid society of the Caesarea church an opportunity to setup their lunch stand in the basement and capitalize on the delay.

Soups, sandwiches, homemade pies and coffee filled the stomachs of the bidders, warmed their spirits and added more then $65 to the Ladies Aid treasury.

Hammett led the auctioneers from one piece of equipment to another, starting first with those items of less interest.

An old kitchen cabinet brought $2, an oil cooking stove 25 cents and a large copper kettle, which an elderly spectator thought might have been pounded out by hand years ago at Bucyrus, went for $4.50.

ROBINSON MOVED ON, climbed upon a ladder wagon piled high with small odds and ends of farm equipment that usually clutter up a barn. It took him more than an hour to wade through it.

"I ought to buy that for my mother to roll dad out of bed with," one girl chortled after she learned that it was a cant hook that the elder Robinson was offering and someone told her that it was used for rolling logs.

Some of the farm implements and tools went to young veterans and some were bid in by women. As one bid on a lime spreader, another remarked, "Never bid against a woman on farm tools, they can't see how much the repairs will cost and they keep right on bidding as long as someone bids against them." She got the spreader.

The crowd increased as the day progressed until several hundred persons were on hand. Of course not many of them bid on any one item, but it only takes one bidder to make a sale and one more bidder will furnish competition and make a better sale.

THIS WAS THE CASE ON THE 110 acre home farm. Neil "crying" the sale got a bid of $7,000 to open with. Another bidder nodded and the price was upped.

As several hundred persons watched the two men fought it out to see who would drop out first. At $11,600 the bidding stopped. Vigorously Neil and his father talked up the sale, searching for another bidder among the crowd but no one would give them the nod.

The farm went to D. A. Flenner of Lucas. Flenner, who is an employe of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company plans to move on the farm as soon as Hammett is able to give possession.

The farm has two bank barns, 40x60 and 32x50, 16 acres of fall sown wheat, a maple sugar grove of 200 trees and a sugar camp reported in good condition.

From the land sale the auctioneers moved on to livestock and larger farm equipment.

A SIX CAN ELECTRIC MILK cooler sold for $165, a rubber tired wagon for $137, a Ford-Ferguson tractor with cultivator, breaking plow, mower and pulley attachment sold for $1,630.

Two Percheron draft horses sold for $65 and $49. A saddle horse sold for $175.

A horse drawn mower sold for $15, a cornplanter, $55, while a walking type breaking plow brought only $4, and a 5-tooth horse drawn garden cultivator, in good condition went for $2.25.

Hammett realized $8,000 from the chattels including livestock. His cattle sold for $2,605.50.

A "fair sale" was what many of the farmers attending thought of the days bidding.

MASS-PRODUCED HOMES NEEDED, STATES DALTON

WASHINGTON —(AP)—With the forecast that "we'll get a lot of housing, but it's no longer a veterans' program," deputy housing expediter Neil Dalton resigned last night to return to duty as assistant to the president of the Louisville Courier-Journal

Dalton was in charge of field operations for former expediter Wilson Wyatt, who quit because of President Truman's relaxation of controls. Dalton credited Wyatt with laying the foundation for "tremendous building next spring."

Unless the government helps finance the makers of assembly-line houses, Dalton declared, there is "no way to get modest, low-cost dwellings to relieve the next few hardship years."

Architects Approve.

The American Institute of Architects predicted, however, the relaxation of controls "will not only speed up construction but will reduce costs."

The institute has advocated complete removal of wartime controls, including rent ceilings, immediately. Its statement last night said the housing situation is "becoming progressively better and the outlook for housing veterans is improved."

Simultaneously the labor department reported a 27 per cent increase in November in the number of apprentices in the building industry, which faces a labor shortage next year. At the start of this month 87,483 were listed, and the increase was achieved despite the seasonal drop in new construction. Ninety per cent of apprentices employed were veterans.

Emphasizing that his departure is not a protest, like that of his fellow deputy, Norton E. Long, a week ago, Dalton recalled he had arranged previously with Wyatt to leave by the year-end. He said he has offered to give aid when needed to Wyatt's successors, National Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley and Expediter Frank R. Creedon.

Outlook Good.

"The outlook for large numbers of conventional-type houses is excellent, but that's nothing new," Dalton told an interviewer. "When Wyatt took over, his first effort was to increase production of building materials.

"That has been highly successful. Every line on every production chart is heading to the sky. The fruit of that planting will be harvested next spring in tremendous building activity.

"But I don't think we can get houses within reach of the lower-income family without an industrialized, mass-production housing program."

Whether this can be achieved depends on "important" decisions shortly to be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Dalton said. The lending policy may be settled this week by RFC directors, Dalton added.

RFC Bucks Wyatt.

RFC's refusal to approve full financing for manufacturers of metal homes was the major cause of Wyatt's resignation. This precipitated last Saturday's White House policy announcement, stripping off the priority system, erasing the $10,000 sales price ceiling, and opening up residential building to non-veterans.

"In time, private capital alone will develop a factory-built housing industry, but the question is whether we will get them soon enough to save veterans from hardship in the years just ahead," the retiring deputy said.

"This is a question of the government actually paying out money to buy time."

Dalton indicated he does not believe the new program will achieve the 1,700,000 new dwellings which was Wyatt's goal for 1947, because "if that many were built, I doubt if they could all be sold at the price which probably will be asked."

GLOBE HOTEL SOLD

MT. GILEAD — C. R. Miller, manager of the Globe Hotel here, announced this week sale of the hotel to the Grote Brothers of Canton and Columbus. H. S. Kirkpatrick, of Delaware, has been the owner of the hotel for the past two years. Miller stated that the Grote Brothers would take over operation on January 1.

Japanese Heir-Apparent Called Able, Talented Boy

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO—(AP)—The chubby little boy who is scheduled some day to inherit the throne of Japan has won the "genuine affection" of his American teacher in the less than two months she has been on the job.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gray Vining of Philadelphia, first American and first woman ever to instruct a member of the Japanese imperial family, said in an interview that she had found considerable talent in little Crown Prince Akihito.

The heir-apparent to the Japanese crown will observe his 14th birthday tomorrow. He will be 13, by the American system, but the Japanese count the date of birth as the first birthday.

* * *

AS ONE OF THE PRINCE'S three English tutors, Mrs. Vining meets him twice a week in the chilly, barren schoolroom at picturesque Kogane, site of the new Peers' school, several miles outside Tokyo.

She also teaches English to 127 other sons and daughters of Japan's nobility and says these youngsters seem much the same as children in other lands.

Mrs. Vining expects in time to give her students the full background of American history and customs and the principles of democracy which will alter radically their once-predestined lives.

* * *

ALTHOUGH SHE AVOIDS comparisons, it is apparent that she regards the crown prince as her star pupil, but he had to earn that distinction without any special privileges because of rank.

"I am genuinely fond of him," she says simply. "He is alert, intent and has a good approach to his studies. He also has a sense of humor."

Enthusiastic and intent towards her job, Mrs. Vining insists that she is no modern "Anna of Siam."

Referring to that famous English tutor of another generation and kingdom, she says, "the circumstances are entirely different and so are the people."

* * *

WHEN MRS. VINING ARRIVed in Yokohama in mid-October, Japanese officials failed to meet her and she had to get an American friend to give her a ride to Tokyo.

Since then, however, she says she has been treated "wonderfully." There has been no evidence of unfriendliness by other teachers, nor, she says, has there been any resentment by her boy pupils, despite their early training in the belief that women were incompetent.

The tall widow with the sparkling blue eyes left her home in Germantown, Philadelphia, on three weeks' notice. Her new home is a comfortable two-story stuccoed house in the Tokyo suburbs. The Japanese government supplies her with household servants, a secretary and an automobile.

* * *

FOR ONE HOUR A WEEK Akihito is a member of Mrs. Vining's regular English language class, which she says "is conducted along entirely democratic lines." For an additional hour she tutors the prince privately. They converse entirely in English, which she says necessarily is still "quite elementary."

Even so, Akihito is more advanced than his fellow-pupils as a result of this extra hour's instruction and the tutoring he gets from an Englishman and an English-speaking Japanese to broaden his "feel" for the language.

Akihito lives in a special house provided for him at the school, but spends most of his time in the dormitory where he and the other boys are fed.

"I can see no special privileges given to him by the other students," she says. "The crown prince joins the other boys in their games and I think he is quite skillful in tennis and table tennis."

* * *

WHILE MRS. VINING, CONSCIOUS of the responsibilities of her job, is careful to avoid anything which might be misconstrued, she says that she believes the Japanese have much to offer the western world, including "their love of beauty and simplicity of living."

She has made no plans beyond her one-year contract with the Japanese government, but is preparing to study the Japanese language and is seeking to learn all she can about Japanese life.

Up and Down The Street

MODERN GREETINGS—

Scott Brown, well-known Mansfield cartoonist, has brought present day living conditions to life and turned them into an amusing Christmas greeting card, which is being mailed to his friends. Housing, the high cost of living, scarcities, and union troubles are among the "headaches" which Brown humorously depicts. For instance, Santa's reindeer come right through the roof of the family's new home, instead of galloping over it. At the same time the Mother declares the tree is all trimmed, Father moans, "Yes, and so are we." While all this is going on, the son in the family writes a belligerent letter to Santa, saying: "My Pop is head of Local Union No. 1451. For Christmas I DEMAND, etc." The card is signed, "Greetings. Ann, Barbara, Linda, and Scott Brown."

STORY HOUR—

Children will gather around the Christmas tree in the children's room at the Mansfield Public Library Monday afternoon. The soft lights of the tree will fall on their upturned faces as the ageless stories of the Nativity are retold. Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian, said today that a special Christmas story-hour will be held at 4:30 p. m. Monday and that all children, whether regular attendants of the story hour sessions or not, are invited. The hour will be held in the second-floor children's room.

And the Browns are ready to give old man winter a tussle as well as the New York Yankees . . . They have basketball shoes for traction if the grid is icy, arctic-style headgears, gloves and chemical pads that serve as miniature stoves . . . All the comforts of home, no less . . . Paul Brown wanted to have the most "amateur" of professional teams when he took over the Browns' coaching job and his selections have paid off . . . Seven Ohio State gridders followed Brown to Cleveland but one—Jim Daniell, team captain—lost a bout with "John Barleycorn" last week and was fired . . . Another tackle Lou "Golden Toe" Groza, league's leading scorer, will miss the test because of injuries . . . Fifteen members of the squad are from the Buckeye State and six are in the starting lineup . . . In keeping with the policy of signing the men he had coached or his teams had played against, seven Big Nine gridders inked Cleveland contracts . . . The "lean and hungry" idea that Brown used at Ohio State and Massillon has been carried to the Browns . . . He has concentrated on fundamentals, condition, speed and alertness . . . Three of the Browns are still students at Ohio State . . . The trio, Groza, Dante Lavelli and Gene Fekete, would rather play pro than college ball possibly because of the greater lure of Uncle Sam's "greenbacks."

LAST HALF superiority has really paid off for Vern Hoffman's Tyger high school cagers this past season. . . . Prior to last night's battle with Columbus Bexley, the Bengal basketeers had racked up four victories in five starts. . . . And in each of the triumphs, Mansfield had to come from behind in the final two periods to annex the victories. . . . The lone loss at the hands of Bellevue saw the Tygers playing on even terms the last half but they lacked their usual fourth quarter drive. . . . Opponents have outscored the Tygers 102 to 81 in the first half with the Bengals having the bulge in the final 16-minutes 117 to 86. . . . It must be the pointers that Hoffman imparts at the half as the local lads have always looked like an entirely different club after the intermission. . . . Mansfield has averaged 13 points in fourth quarters, 10.4 in third heats, 8.4 in first stanzas and 7.8 in second periods.

SNOW IS GOOD FOR BROWN'S TITLE CHANCES

Cleveland Rates As Two Touchdown Favorites.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Cleveland's Browns of the All-America football conference, who have had nothing but bad luck all week, received their first good break yesterday when an estimated three inches of snow fell on the Municipal Stadium gridiron where they play the New York Yankees today for the loop title.

The Browns, whose hospital list shows four ailing members and whose captain was fired from the squad, rely on quick opening T-formation plays, a style of attack that is not expected to be handicapped as severely as the Yankees' single wing mode of moving by the adverse weather.

The field has been covered by a tarpaulin all week. Kick-off time is 1:30.

Those playing conditions kept the Browns, who twice whipped the Yankees during the season, as the 13 point favorites to annex the first championship of the young All-America circuit.

These odds have remained virtually unchanged since mid-week when it became known that all three of the Browns' regular right halfbacks—Al Akins, Don Greenwood and Ray Terrell are hobbled by injuries. Akins won't see any action, Coach Paul Brown said, and Greenwood will start despite an ankle sprain. Terrell has a bruised hip and it may be that Bill Lund, a left halfback, will shift over to aid the two cripples.

There still is some doubt concerning Lou Groza, the tackle whose kicking has made him the league's leading scorer. He also is bothered by an ankle injury.

He may play in the line tomorrow but is unlikely to do much kicking. Dismissal from the squad of Capt. Jim Daniell Monday following a loud argument with a Cleveland cop has cut the Cleveland tackle array to three with Bill Willis, a guard, being groomed as replacement if needed.

The New Yorkers, who cancelled their final drill yesterday because of the snow, are at their physical peak and their wish for a victory became even more intense when Ace Parker, their top back, hinted that this might be his last game.

Parker, who tossed 115 passes during the season and had only three intercepted, played eight years in the National league before going to war. He returned this year and suffered his first major gridiron injury — three cracked verterbra. He did not play in either of the two early season games with Cleveland which the Browns won by 24 to 7 and 7 to 0 scores.

The Yankees also expect considerable from Ed Prokop, a Cleveland high school star who now is reconciled to being a New York Yankee.

The snow made probable attendance a riddle. All concerned are agreed that the crowd will be larger than 35,500 the number who shivered through a Cleveland Ram-Washington Redskin National league playoff in the same arena a year ago with the temperature dropping to three below zero.

The players will get 70 per cent of the net receipts, the New Yorkers having cut their melon into 37½ parts. Cleveland has not yet announced its prize distribution.

BEVERAGE BIDS FOR TOP SPOT IN CITY A LOOP

Richland Beverage will be bidding for an undisputed grip on first place in the City No. 1 division of the City A league tomorrow night at the Senior high gym.

The Beveragemen collide with Yunckers Sports in the last game. Smokehouse and Komito's Clothiers do not play the holidays and should Beverage win it would be a half-game in front.

Barnes Manufacturing opposes the card against McCarrick's Gulf at 7. In the second game, the Ohio Sports Center and AVC will be trying for their first victories.

Jack Hammett, Barnes Manufacturing, is the leading scorer after three games. Hammett has scored 19 field goals and six charity shots, nine points more than Jimmy Toals, Ohio Sports Center, who has accounted for 35 tallies.

Dean Hahn, who scored 19 points last Wednesday is third with 31 points. Hahn plays for the Beverage five.

In the second division, Mansfield Tire, Yunckers and Urschel Insurance are tied for the top rung with two victories and one setback.

NAME GLENN DAVIS ATHLETE OF YEAR

NEW YORK—Glenn Davis, three-time all-America halfback of Army's unbeaten football teams, yesterday was named the male athlete-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

The 21-year-old Claremont (Calif.) comet who streamed to 51 touchdowns for the Cadets during the 1944-45-46 seasons as a running partner for Felix (Doc) Blanchard, polled 23 first place votes from the 71 participating sports writers and editors.

Joe Louis, who successfully defended his heavyweight title against Billy Conn and Tami Mauriello, was Davis' only serious competitor, drawing 16 first place ballots.

On the basis of three points for a first place vote, two for second and one for third, Davis piled up 106 points to 78 for the Brown Bomber.

Ben Hogan, high money winning golfer, was third with 47 points and five firsts, followed by Stan Musial, slugging first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, with 38 points and six firsts. Fifth place went to Ted Williams, the splendid splinter of the Boston Red Sox. Williams picked up 29 points including five that nominated him for athlete-of-the-year.

Bobby Feller, Cleveland's pitching ace who set a new modern Major league strikeout record, was sixth followed in order by Georgia's Charlie Trippi, Harry (the Cat) Brecheen, winner of three world series games for the Cardinals, George Mikan of the DePaul basketball team of last season and Tony Zale, the middleweight champ who stopped Rocky Graziano in one of the most exciting bouts of 1946.

Joe McDaniel, Syracuse's new wrestling coach, was three-times NCAA champion and three-times A.A.U. champ while an undergrad at Oklahoma A. & M.

SOUTHERN CAL EDGES TULANE

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— Southern California's Trojans won a 20 to 13 football victory over the Tulane Green Wave here yesterday in a belated campaign finals.

Despite perfect football weather, the smallest crowd of the local season, about 25,000 persons, watched the teams play a game originally scheduled for 1943 but postponed because of the war.

Although outweighed 16 pounds to the man, the Tulians spent most of the afternoon pushing the Trojans down field. But the Californians repeatedly stiffened when it counted. Twice the Wave rolled as far as the USC 20 once to the ten and once to the eleven, on three of those occasions they lost the ball on downs, and the other time on an intercepted pass.

Mickey McCardle ran and passed the Trojans to an opening touchdown, but it was the Californians' only long scoring drive. Intercepted passes started them to their other touchdowns.

AKRON NORTH WINS FIRST OF SEASON; LEWIS NOTCHES 27

Columbus Bexley snapped a three-game Mansfield winning streak here last night in the feature attraction of the first annual Tyger cage carnival, 62 to 50.

The smooth passing and dead-eye shooting of Bexley's Lions was too much for the smaller Tygers who nevertheless kept within hailing distance until the final minutes. It was the second victory for Bexley in the carnival and the first loss for Mansfield.

In the first contest on last night's card the lettermen—studded Akron North aggregation annexed its first victory of the campaign by blasting Toldo Libbey, 71 to 40. North, with six monogram winners from last year's state tournament finalists, had dropped four straight games prior to shooting down the Cowboys.

Bexley won over Akron, 46 to 45, and Mansfield defeated Libbey, 41 to 40, in the opening games of the carnival Friday night.

Jack Lewis, a free-wheeling shotsmith, dumped in 27 of Bexley's points, top individual performance on the Tyger hardwood this season. He connected for 12 field goals and three free throws.

Best previous efforts were turned in by Carl Johnson, Bexley, and Bob Sloan, North. Johnson made 23 points Friday night and Johnson duplicated last night.

However, Ollie Cline took over guarding duties and stopped Johnson with 10 points last night. The Bexley forward had averaged 15.4. Johnson made two free throws and scored two of his four baskets on rebounds.

In addition Cline shattered individual Mansfield scoring marks for the season as he cascaded 19 points through the mesh. He accounted for nine field goals and one free throw. Nick Gagich followed Cline with 13 markers.

Bexley moved to a 6 to 0 lead in the first quarter but Mansfield quickly tied the count on a basket by Gagich and two by Cline. The latter hoopster added three more points to give the Tygers a 9-6 margin. Bexley went back in front 10-9 and led at the quarter 12-11.

Mansfield tied the score in the second chukker, 16-16, but nine straight points gave Bexley a working margin. The Lions led at the other intermission points, 27 to 21, and 40 to 37. Mansfield cut the lead to 32 to 31 mid-way in the third heat after Tommy Bloor and Gagich made quick connections.

Bexley blasted eight points in a row and the best the Tygers could do after that was pull to within three points of the visitors.

Bob Sloan proved to be the outstanding offensive player for the Akron combine. Sloan dumped in 10 field goals and four foul shots for 24 points. He made 10 points in the third frame.

Libbey held the smooth operating North five to a 9-9 tie at the end of the first quarter. Then North started to find the range and in the next eight minutes held a 29-20 margin.

Coming back after the intermission, Sloan took command and led the Akron quintet in building up a 52-26 lead as the period ended. Akron flipped in 23 points in this stanza.

As the fourth quarter started, Sloan again connected before being replaced by a substitute. By this time the whole team had their eye on the hoop and the five substitutes raked up 19 additional tallies while checking Libbey with 14.

Little Bob Keholm led the Toledo attack with 12 points.

Although the defensive power was loose for the Libbey cagers they missed many shots. North sank 31 field goals and nine free tosses while Libbey scored 12 baskets and 16 free throws.

North was playing headsup ball and controlled the backboards most of the game. Bob Shank, towering Akron center, entered the game in the final four minutes and had little trouble scoring three baskets on rebounds.

The entire North team hit the basket for at least one point.

CANTON IS SITE FOR ALL-STAR '47 GRID TILT

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Canton, which has a stadium with a capacity of 24,000, last night was selected as the site for the second annual Ohio high school all-star football game next August, it was announced by J. H. (Heine) Beck of Warren, president of the Ohio High School Coaches association.

Hamilton was the other contender for sponsorship of the grid classic. The two cities presented their bids in a meeting of Beck, association Secretary Gilbert Smith of Van Wert and the group's coaching school committee. Beck said the vote was five to two in favor of Canton.

The Warren coach said a total of 48 players who received All-Ohio recognition from three news wire services would be selected in March to comprise the "south" and "north" squads for the all-star game. Two of the country's leading college grid mentors will be selected soon to pilot the teams, he added.

Coach Jimmy Robinson of Canton Lehman high school headed a group of Canton delegates bidding for sponsorship of the classic, while Charles Mather of Hamilton urged that the seven-day coaching school and all-star contest be awarded to the southern Ohio city.

Canton delegates proposed that the city's five high schools, Lehman, McKinley, Lincoln, Timken and Central Catholic be named co-sponsors of the 1947 tilt. Mather said Hamilton high schools would transfer the game to the 30,000-seat University of Cincinnati stadium if their bid were accepted.

Members of the coaching school committee include Mel Knowlton of Alliance, Howard Brinker of Steubenville, Jack Mollenkopf of Toledo, Gilbert Hanshue of Newark and Harold Roettger of Lockland.

Trippi Rates Top Choice In Pro Grid Draft

CLEVELAND —(AP)— All-America football conference club owners completed their first player draft yesterday, heard Robert R. Rodenberg explain how his Washington-Baltimore combine would operate if granted a franchise for the Maryland city and then relaxed in anticipation of the young loop's first championship playoff game tomorrow.

Glenn Davis and Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Army's All-America twins for the past three seasons, were picked on the first round of the draft early today but most of the attention centered on Charley Trippi, Georgia's All-America halfback of the present campaign.

Trippi, drafted by the Chicago Cardinals of the rival National league, was the number one man on the New York Yankees' list following a swap with the now defunct Miami Seahawks. He closes his collegiate career with Georgia in the Sugar Bowl against North Carolina on Jan. 1.

It became known today that the clubowners of the young circuit met in Chicago late in October and each owner then was permitted to make one draft selection.

Harvey Hester of the Miami organization, picked Trippi but swapped his rights to the Dixie Terror to the Yankees for three signed players whose identity will be revealed at the annual business meeting next month.

Trippi, regarded as a potential Major league baseball outfielder, was swapped to the Yankees in the hopes a combined football-baseball bonus offer from millionaire Dan Topping would convince the athlete to cast his lot with the All-America loop. Topping owns the football Yankees and is one-third owner of the baseball Yankees.

The senior National league is expected to offer financial attractions to equal those of the Yankees and it may be that Trippis, discharged from the army a year ago because continued service would work a hardship on his family, may be enriched by a sum surpassing that of the $52,000 given Dick Wakefield by the Detroit Tigers for his signature.

4 'Y' Quints Unbeaten; Burton Leads Scorers

Four teams remain in the undefeated class as YMCA Commercial B and Senior church basketball leagues take a two weeks' vacation. The Church circuit resumes competition on Jan. 7 with the Commercial cagers playing again on the following night.

Ohio Public Service and Shelby Merchants are perched atop the Commercial standings with three victories apiece. However, Shelby has the best offensive mark, 42.7 a game, and has allowed only 16 counters a game.

OPS is second in offense with 101 points, an average of 33.7 while Bodie Cigar trails in the defensive column with 21.3. The Cigarmen are tied with Phalanx Fraternity for third in the B loop.

High-scoring Park Avenue Baptist tops the Church wheel with three straight wins while St Luke's is second with two triumphs and no defeats. The Baptists have the best offensive record, 39 a game with First Presbyterian second with 32.

St. Luke's have permitted only 18 points a game while First Lutheran is second in defense with 24. The Lutherans have won one and lost two.

Charles Burton leads both leagues in individual point making. He has 42 points for OPS in the Commercial league and 47 with Park Avenue in the Church circuit. Burton has averaged 14.8 with the two teams.

Ward, OPS, and Bradford, Brodie cigar, are tied for second in the B loop with 34 points. Beasore has 30 for Park Avenue and second honors in Church competition.

Pro Fights Scheduled For Armory on Jan. 9

Mansfield boxing promoters Rex Reese and Sam Miller will stage their seventh local professional fight show on Jan. 9 in the Mansfield Armory.

They have signed Dick Alexander and Joe Brown, local favorites to appear on the five-bout program. The card will include a 10. two six and two four round matches.

Alexander and Brown have been working out regularly at the Buckeye State sporting club gym and are in top condition for the show. The former has won eight straight pro decisions, the latest being a kayo win over Lefty Lou Williams in the Armory last month.

Alexander, a welterweight, looks better each time out and required only two rounds to put the damper on the rugged Williams. Dick has won seven of his pro battles before a Mansfield crowd.

Brown has won all six of his pro ring goes, including the last five by knockouts. He erased Joe Ceryak, Cleveland heavy, on the same card that Alexander put Williams away. Other battlers on his knockout string are Frankie Burns, Kid Esmont, Pat Richards and Johnny Chipp.

Reese and Miller will introduce a new heavyweight on the Jan. 9 card. He is Chuck Albrecht, a young 190-pounder, who has been looking impressive in workouts. The youngster has shown ability to hit hard with both hands. Albrecht will battle under the ring cognomen of Chuck Wiggins.

Gale Frye, a lightweight in Reese's stable, is fighting Tommy Welsch in Columbus on New Year's day. Frye kayoed Johnny Ross, Massillon, here last month. Welsch has made three appearances in the Mansfield ring and has won three decisions.

Frye will probably fight a four or six rounder on the seventh Reese-Miller show.

Stanley Musial Takes Official NL Hit Crown

NEW YORK — (AP) — Stanley Frank Musial, whose general all-around work in the outfield and at first base for St. Louis was the biggest single factor in the winning of the world's championship by the Cardinals in 1946, yesterday was officially recognized as the batting champion of the National league with a percentage of .365.

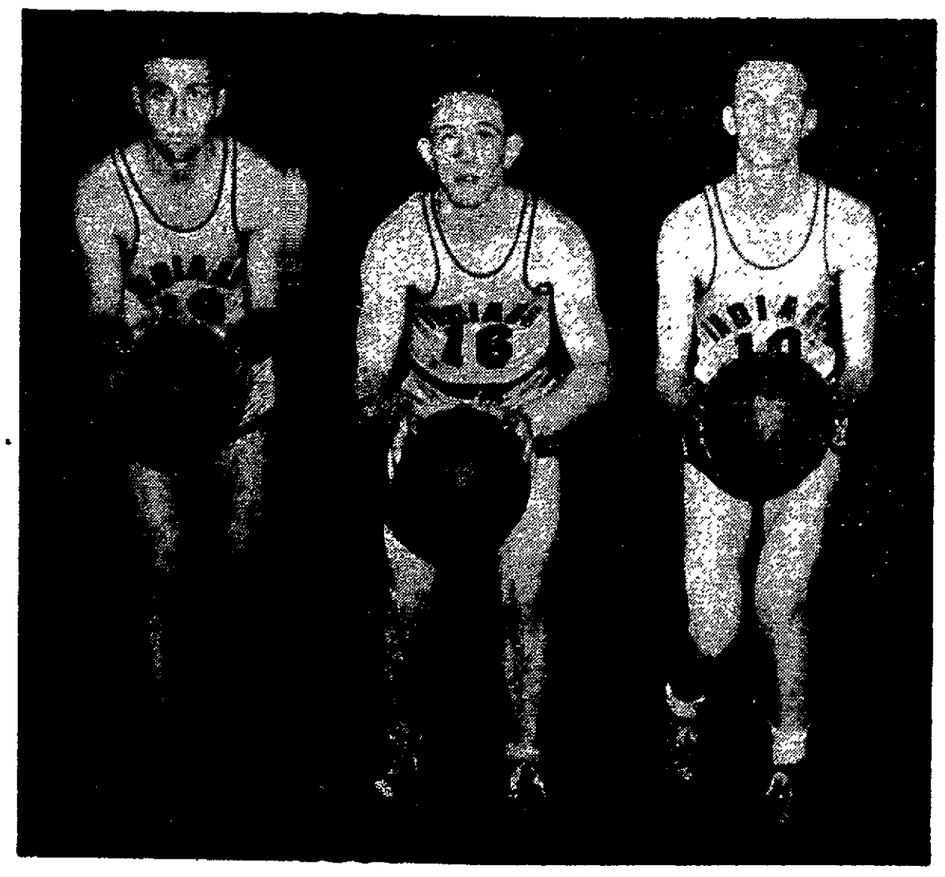
In winning his second batting crown in four full major league seasons, the 26-year-old Donora, Pa. clouter also led the loop with 124 runs, 228 hits, 366 total bases, 142 singles, 50 doubles and 20 triples. That, together with his successful mid-season transformation from an outfielder to a fine defensive first baseman when rookie Dick Sisler was found wanting at the initial sack, was responsible for his selection as the circuit's most valuable player by a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Musial's return to the number one spot among the hitters was all the more remarkable as he was out of action all of 1945 having exchanged his baseball uniform for that of the Navy blue.

Always a better than .300 hitter following his makeover from a fair pitcher to a slugging outfielder because of a sore arm back in 1940, Musial was runner-up to Brooklyn's Dixie Walker in 1944 with .347. The year before Musial captured the title with a mark of .357.

His winning mark for 1946 was just 10 points higher than the .355 which earned Phil Cavarretta of the Chicago Cubs the 1945 championship.

Johnny Mize, another ex-star back at first base for the New York Giants, was runner-up to Musial with .337. He was followed by Outfielder Johnny Hopp of the Boston Braves, who like Mize is a former Cardinal, with .333; Walker of the Dodgers, .319; and Del Ennis, spectacular rookie outfielder of the Philadelphia Phils, .313.



NO RELATION—Dale "Pete" Campbell, Nelson Campbell, jr., and Dick Campbell are three of the mainstays of the Mt. Gilead basketball team. The lads, who are not related, alternate at forward. Dick is captain of the team. The Campbell confusion was also evident in football as all three were backfield regulars. Pete and Dick are seniors while Nelson, a junior, was captain of the team. Nelson was chosen on the Mid-State league honor team, was named by his teammates as the most valuable player of the squad and has been selected as 1947 grid captain.

Lucas Veterans Win Two Games

LUCAS — Lucas veterans defeated AVC and Friendly House basketball teams of Mansfield in a double header, here last night.

Paced by Bob Barger who accounted for 22 points in the two contests, the Veterans knocked off the AVC, 24-23, in the opening tilt. Trailing, 8-2, at the end of first period the Lucas cagers came back to tie the count, 11-11, at the half. They led, 18-17, at the three quarter mark.

In the second contest, Lucas trounced the F-H squad, 37-20. Lucas led, 10-8, at the end of the of the first period, 23-14, at the intermission and 28-17 going into the final frame.

St. Louis Infielder Sold to Indianapolis.

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Len Schulte, 30-year old infielder of the St. Louis Browns who played most of the past season with Toledo of the American Association, has been sold to the Indianapolis club in the same league. The transaction was for an undisclosed sum of cash. Schulte has been in the Browns' farm system for the past eight seasons, but played regularly with the St. Louis club in 1945.

McGINTY

One of the amusing parts of the trip was when Judge Cramer spotted a bear. After he started shooting at the animal, several others opened fire.

The next day it was discovered one hunter had shot into a log, another had emptied his automatic gun and discovered that his shells had not fired. Incidentally, the bear was never scratched.

Rabbit season officially closes Jan. 1, and the game wardens have stated that they will be on the lookout for any hunters that violate that date.

* * *

Many hunters will be getting their last fill of hunting rabbits before the season concludes, Jan. 1, and with the holidays here, the fields will be overflowing with outdoor sportsmen.

So again sports enthusiasts are warned to be exceptionally cautious so as to prevent unnecessary accidents.

* * *

Some youngsters might be receiving guns as Christmas gifts which would be the envy of all neighborhood boys. It is highly recommended that an experienced gunsman should teach the young sportsmen the right way to handle the piece.

Remember, that gun is for hunting or possibly for shooting mark and target practice. When not in use, keep the gun empty, and in a safe place.

Now that meat's plentiful again, the nation's store of frozen fish and shellfish is once again becoming ample, the fish and wildlife service reported last night.

Only a few species, such as shrimp, lake herring, whiting, pink salmon and swordfish, are less plentiful than they were a year ago. Considerably exceeding last year's storage supply are this winter's stocks of fillets of rosefish, cod, haddock, pollock, halibut, sablefish and chum salmon.

The service said 158,000,000 pounds of fish were on hand in freezers Dec. 1, compared with 150 000,000 pounds Nov 1, and 128 000,000 pounds Dec. 1, 1945. Inventories were 152 000 000 pounds Sept. 1, 1946, but declined during the meat shortage to 147,000,000 pounds Oct. 1.
